Navy Tells of Ship-Launched Atomic Missiles Being Made

Start Design Of the Vessels To Handle Them

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The Navy has told senators that a new ship-launched atomic missile now in the making will be able to hit any target within nine-tenths of the vast Communist domains of Europe and Asia. That assumption is based on ability of the launching ships to get close enough.

Senior officers backed their optimism for the 1,500-mile Jupiter missile with statements that the Navy has already started designing and preparing vessels to handle the new weapon, now under development with the Army.

The Navy disclosed some of its war plans for the Jupiter, as well as for missiles and attack planes already in the fleet, in hitherto secret testimony before the Senate Airpower Investigating Committee headed by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.).

Rear Adm. C. D. Griffin, speaking for the chief of naval operations, testified that "all of Eurasia except a portion in the central section is covered" by Navy plans for the use of Jupiter missiles carrying nuclear warheads.

He said the Jupiters will hit their targets with "a relatively high degree of accuracy" whether launched from submarines or surface ships. Officers appearing with Griffin supported an observation by Symington that the inland portion of the Communist world lying beyond Jupiter's range was less than 10 per cent of the total land mass of Europe and Asia.

Griffin and the deputy chief of naval operations for Air, Vice Adm. Thomas S. Combs, stressed the Navy's ability right now, even before Jupiter is ready, to carry a missile offensive to enemy shores. They said 10 ships are now equipped to launch the 500-mile-range Regulus missile with atomic or hydrogen warhead. They said a longer-range Regulus with a speed equal to or faster than sound has already been flight tested.

Demo Candidates To Attend Party Fish Fry Here

From all parts of the state Democratic candidates in the August primary have accepted invitations to attend the annual party fish fry at Liberty Park, Sunday, July 29, according to W. C. Cramer, Democratic city chairman.

Preliminary estimates are that attendance will exceed by far the turnout of 3,500 last year.

This affair to which the public is invited is a city-wide, county-wide, state-wide rally preceding primary election. Candidates for office will mingle with the crowds and have an opportunity to make brief remarks beginning at 2 o'clock.

The free fish fry starts at 12 noon and Cramer reports there will be plenty for all. He expressly urges all Democrats to attend and make this the biggest rally in years.

School Enrollment Asked of Students

All students planning to enroll in Smith-Cotton high school that have not previously been in the Sedalia School District before are asked to enroll immediately this week at the high school. Forrest L. Drake, principal, has asked that students living outside the city school area enroll if they have not been previously enrolled here before.

They need not enroll if they were in the seventh grade of the city schools last year, or if they were in the school district then.

Schedules of those enrolled for next year will not be given out until August, Drake announced Friday.

Signs of the Times

You can tell how much more moisture Sedalia has been receiving lately by the attractiveness of the lawns and gardens throughout town. And by the roar of power mowers on weekends.

CENTRAL MISSOURI—Partly cloudy, continued hot and humid today and Monday; high today around 95.

The temperature Saturday was 73 at 7 a.m., 91 at 1 p.m. and 92 at 2 p.m. The low Friday night was 69.

The temperature one year ago today, high 90, low 69; two years ago, high 111, low 75; and three years ago, high 86, low 65, with .53 inch of rain.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks Saturday 52.8, rise 4.

PRAYER AMID QUAKE RUINS—Greek woman visits ruined church at Samorini on island of Thira after quakes and seismic waves battered Aegean Sea islands in what was called area's worst disturbance of 20th Century. Death toll ran high and thousands were left homeless. (AP Wirephoto)

Attends With Hazel Palmer—Rose Leibbrand Gets Head Business Women's Position

Miss Rose Leibbrand of Sedalia has been appointed national executive director of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club. The appointment was made by the executive committee in Miami Beach, Fla., at the close of the biennial convention of that organization held last week. Miss Leibbrand will maintain the headquarters in Washington, D.C., and will be over the entire staff there.

Miss Leibbrand came to Sedalia during World War II when she was in the service and stationed at the Sedalia Air Force Base. One of the first things she did was to visit the Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Sedalia and shortly became a member. Although she is resigning the office of parliamentarian to which she was recently elected, she made it plain that she was keeping her membership in the Sedalia club even though she is in Washington.

In the October issue of Charm magazine in 1954, Miss Leibbrand was written up by Karen Kekoe, who started the article about her with "Major Rose Leibbrand counts it an accomplishment just being alive. In China, an editor on the Shanghai Times, she covered front-line trenches during the Japanese invasion of Manchuria in 1931. Later, Chinese bandits captured and held her for three days without food or water. As an air WAC intelligence officer in the U.S. she performed dangerous aerial photography assignments and in Mexico, following Cortez trail from Vera Cruz to Acapulco, traveled 100 miles down brush jungle to photograph Mayan pyramids and temples."

By the time she was out of service she had made many friends in the local club and had become an especially good friend of Miss Hazel Palmer, now national BPW president. She began to feel very close ties to Sedalia itself, so she settled down here. Her adventures in this community were no greater than going fish.

McKeon will go before the general court-martial board well represented by defense counsel. The Marines have appointed three officers. In addition, McKeon has retained two civilian attorneys.

For Marines everywhere this is no ordinary, run-of-the-mill court-martial. The commandant himself, Gen. Randolph Pate, said, "The whole country has interested itself in the cause of the death of these Marines and the Marine Corps is, in a moral sense, on trial as to its responsibility."

McKeon said he ordered the fatal march as a disciplinary measure; that is, to punish the recruits for frolicking in an un-Marine like manner early in the day.

In a letter to Navy Secretary Charles Thomas, Pate said there was evidence that McKeon had been drinking on duty.

Success Expected Again—

Chamber of Commerce Plans For Ham Breakfast at Fair

Plans for the Missouri State Fair parade and ham breakfast, both sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Missouri State Fair, were discussed at the Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting Friday noon at the Bothwell Hotel.

Jack Faber, executive manager, announced Wes Murphy, the parade superintendent, was receiving many entries from over the state and that the ham breakfast was expected again to be an outstanding event of the Fair.

Floyd Priddy, president, who conducted the meeting, announced that the 4-H picnic for Chamber of Commerce members would be held on July 31, according to Ivan Berry, chairman of the agriculture committee.

Mrs. Everett White, director of civic activities, reported on the success of the "Yard of the Month" project which was discussed by the directors. Faber reported that it was creating a great deal of interest, not only locally but the Chamber had received inquiries from three other cities that were interested in starting such a project.

Clinton Muller, public relations director, reported on the success of Baseball Appreciation Day held Thursday starting with a parade in the afternoon and the exceptionally good baseball games during the evening were witnessed by a huge crowd.

Claretton Kelley, director of transportation and traffic.

Mike Giokaris, director of the industrial development, stated his committee had made an effort to get the building that went to Ames, Ia., and at the present time is working on several other prospects in an effort to bring industries to Sedalia.

Harry Naugel, director of the retail merchants division, told of the success of Sedalia Appreciation Days and of the new committee under his division known as the home improvement committee.

Mrs. Marjorie Garanson, director of the membership committee, announced one new member, the Central Missouri Supply Co., and asked that directors work with her to increase the membership of the Chamber of Commerce.

Faber announced the need for a new brochure and stated that one was in the making.

Attending the meeting were: Floyd Priddy, president; K. U. Love, past president; Vernon Rodick, first vice-president; Mrs. Ike L. Warren, treasurer; Jack Faber, executive manager; W. A. Bingaman, Clinton Muller, Claretton Kelley, Mike Giokaris, Keith Yount, Harry Naugel, Virgil Corson, Mrs. Everett White, Mrs. Marjorie Garanson, and William Gibson, directors.

Bus Routes Begin Monday In Sedalia

Operated by Former City Bus Drivers In Public Interest

Those who have parking problems when they come to town will have their problems solved Monday, when the Sedalia Transit Lines, Inc., start the operation of bus routes. The first bus will leave Third and Ohio at 6:30 a.m. Monday, the first to resume service after more than two years.

Harry Goldberg and Warren Wiley, who worked together as drivers of city buses several years ago, have assumed the responsibility of bringing back to Sedalia that type of transportation. They have purchased five school buses at Odessa, have had the necessary repairs made to put them into first class condition, and they have been repainted and ready for operations.

They have three Chevrolets and two Ford buses, four of which will be used regularly on the bus routes and the fifth to be used as an emergency should trouble develop with any of the other vehicles.

Goldberg, who operates Goldberg's Cafe and Service Station on East Highway 50 and Wiley who is with the Country Club Distributing Co., will not drive the buses, both maintaining present occupations. They have already hired five drivers who will drive the buses.

The fare will be 10 cents and no transfers will be given.

The routing of the buses are on four separate schedules. Each route is as follows:

Sixteenth and Limit

Starting at Main and Ohio. West to Osage; south to Broadway; east on Broadway to Ohio; south on Ohio to 16th; west on 16th to Limit; south on Limit to southwest area (on the hour the bus will circle through Southwest Village and on the half-hour it will circle through Country Club Addition), north on Limit to 16th; east on 16th to Ohio; north on Ohio to Broadway; east on Broadway (Please turn to page 4, Column 5)

Plans Announced For Dependents In WAFB Alert

Col. A. J. Beck, wing commander at Whiteman Air Force Base, has announced plans to civilian dependents for "Operation Alert" which will begin on July 20.

In a letter to dependents of Air Force personnel Col. Beck outlined a plan for all families living in the area to proceed, upon sounding of the alert, to one of the two communities out of the blast area and fall-out pattern.

The plan calls for all Air Force families who live in Sedalia, LaMonte and all communities to the East of Whiteman to proceed south on U.S. Highway 65 and State Route 35 to Warsaw where they are to congregate at the Community House.

Those families living on the base, Knob Noster, Warrensburg and points west of the base are to proceed down State Route 13 to Clinton where they will report to the city park and sign in with the officer on duty there.

Both Warsaw and Clinton would be out of the damage area of an H-Bomb blast at Whiteman. Warsaw is approximately 35 miles from the installation and Clinton 30 miles.

Last year, SAC bases evacuated more than 100,000 persons. "This year our goal is more than 200,000 persons," said Maj. Francis T. Phillips Jr., SAC's Chief of Air Base Defenses and Director of the Command's evacuation program.

The 1956 alert has been programmed for a six day period, but civilian participation will be confined to the opening day, July 20.

High School Summer Band Concert July 18

Smith-Cotton Junior and Senior High School students in the summer band program at the high school will present a concert this Wednesday, July 18, at the Washington Park at 8 p.m. All persons are invited to attend. Mrs. Carl G. Schrader will conduct the pupils in the event.

The concert will feature a baritone horn solo with band accompaniment by Stanley Jones, a freshman at the high school, entitled "Blue Bells of Scotland." Also featured on the program will be the clarinet section of the band which will play "My Bonnie," a medley.

Students have been rehearsing Tuesday nights and Thursday mornings to present this concert. They are planning other concerts this season for listening enjoyment in the other parks of the city.

It is believed that this is the first band concert played in the Washington Park.

Captured Communist Airliner--

Hungarians Say 'Lack of Hope' Drove Them to Escape by Plane

INGOLSTADT, Germany, July 14.—Freedom-seeking Hungarians said today "complete lack of hope for the future" drove them to risk their lives by capturing a Communist airliner in midflight battle to escape to the West.

Seven Hungarians, who told German police they hated Communism, crash-landed the American-built DC3 of the Hungarian State Airlines on an airfield near here last night.

Five of them suffered bashed heads and broken bones in a bloody struggle in which they subdued the crew of four and eight other passengers, disarmed a Communist secret police agent among them and hedged along the Danube River out of Hungary across Austria and into West Germany.

All seven asked for political asylum. Bavarian state officials said they had first to question the plotters and the remaining 12 persons who have said they wished to return to Hungary, but expected the request would be granted.

Together with the five escapees in the hospital, were seven passengers and crew members suffering from injuries received in the battle. Among the hospitalized was Gyorgy Polyak, a former World War II Hungarian air force pilot, who was leader of the plot.

There was one woman among the conspirators. She was Enese Iszak, 19, wife of Ferenc Iszak, a 25-year-old Budapest student who was with her. Interviewed in the hospital, where she is being treated for a broken finger and broken ankle received in the life and death struggle for the plane, she said:

"The systematic destruction by Communist authorities of all sparks of individual ambition was why we left."

"Nobody can plan for the future in Hungary," she said, "because we never knew whether they would let us realize our ambitions."

Another escapee, Joseph Jakaby, 25, said he joined the plot because in Hungary "there is absolutely no future for young men." He said he hoped to get to the United States and join his aunt, Mrs. William L. Farmer, of Chicago.

State and Local Units Will Take Part in Alert

WASHINGTON, July 14.—In 24 hours of assumed frightfulness starting at 10 a.m., EST, next Friday, make-believe atomic assault will "obliterate" 76 U. S. industrial and military centers and some Canadian cities.

Such an attack could bring a first-day "casualty" toll of more than 20 million—if it caught the targets unwarned and unready.

This grim game of pretend will launch Operation Alert 1956, a seven-day civil mobilization exercise. State and local civilian defense units will go into action as the yellow warning, "Lemon Juice," is flashed from city to city.

President Eisenhower, his Cabinet and hundreds of federal workers will stream out of the "doomed" city of Washington in automobiles, headed for secret relocation centers in a half-dozen states.

Success of this nationwide test of national survival will be measured by the Office of Defense Mobilization and Federal Civil Defense Administration in terms of: First, the extent to which the hypothetical first-day toll of 9,900,000 dead and 10,600,000 injured can be reduced.

Second, the effectiveness of the dispersed government in patching together a "wrecked" economy and organizing a war effort out of what the mock bombers spared.

This third and greatest civilian war game will establish several "firsts." For the first time:

1. The armed forces will take part, to an undisclosed extent.

2. Canadian participation will permit a study of some of the practical problems of continental defense.

3. A nationwide daytime test of the Conelrad emergency radio network will be held. All television and FM radio stations will go off the air at 3:10 p.m., EST, for 15 minutes on Friday, as well as all AM radio stations except those equipped for Conelrad broadcasting on 640 and 1240 kilocycles. The latter will broadcast civil defense information.

4. The government will announce publicly the mock wage-price freeze, rationing, priority, censorship and other control orders which would be issued in a real attack.

5. There will be no "telescoping" of time. The seven-day government test will deal with problems as they might arise in the first seven days of an actual assault.

Completes Plans For Foreign Students Guests

Plans for the entertainment of the 44 foreign students who will visit Sedalia as guests of the American Association of University Women, have been completed.

These students, now on tour of the United States after a year spent in the United States in private homes throughout the country, will arrive by bus about 4:30 p.m. July 25 at the home of Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, Sedalia's American Field Service representative.

The highlight of the evening will be a dinner given in their honor at the Bothwell Hotel. Sedalians who would like to meet and talk with the foreign visitors may attend the banquet. Reservations for the dinner must be in by 6 p.m. Monday, July 23, and may be made by calling Mrs. John Zulauf, at 1297, or Mrs. Wilfred Lee, at 1044.

The first information indicated that the young students would be here two nights, but it has since been learned they will be here only one night. This is one of the few overnight stops the group will make on their way to the West coast to return to their homes in New Zealand and Japan.

INSIDE STORIES

With the State Fair only a month away, preparations are already underway for the big event. For instance, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is making sure the hundreds of calls can be handled, and it will have its own exhibit. See Page 2, Section 1.

Don't miss the new feature, beginning today, entitled "Home and Building" on Pages 2, 3 and 4 in Section 2. If you're a home owner, or thinking of becoming one, this will be right down your alley.

The raid by fly-by-night firms on the scientific talent of the United States has reached serious proportions, sometimes doubling the cost of important projects. A revealing discussion of this threat is contained on Page 7, Section 2.

Arranges Special Exhibit— Telephone Company Prepares For Heavy State Fair Load

Work is progressing at the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for its annual state fair exhibit, according to Norman Pitcairn, manager of the Sedalia office. This year's exhibit will be entitled "Tommy Telephone", an interesting theme.

"Tommy Telephone" is being built in Chicago and will arrive in Sedalia just prior to the opening of the fair. August 16 and 17 are the dates set aside for the construction of the booth housing the display. It will require a staff of four men to put "Tommy" together for display. Twenty people will be needed from the Bell System to operate this exhibit at the fair.

All help in the state fair exhibit for the Southwestern Bell Telephone is volunteer help. They will be trained by the company and will participate in a "dress rehearsal" the afternoon before the fair opens. Southwestern Bell meets many other obligations during fair week also. They install for public service, 19 pay public telephones in booths located about over the grounds and in buildings. A large PBX switchboard for the administration is installed yearly for the convenience of the fair commission, secretary of the fair's office, publicity department, ticket booth, highway patrol and other offices used in conducting the fair. This board will be in operation just a few weeks prior to the opening of the fair.

Facilities are made available by the telephone company for other types of service through their offices.

'Wild Board' Breaks Loose— Neighborhood Circus Raises Funds for Crippled Children

It may have lacked the brass band, the cotton candy, and the aroma of sawdust and musty canvas, but the kids on West Fourth and Fifth Streets performed in their neighborhood circus for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Center here last week like the veterans of the legitimate "big tops".

The back yard of the William C. Hopkins home at 819 West Fourth was teeming with children and grownups alike last Monday night when the Hopkins' children, Billy and Jill; Mike Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neville Johnson, 820 West Fifth; Bitzie Gentges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gentges, 901 West Fifth; and Cary Groepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Groepper, 914 West Fourth, all combined their juvenile talents as trapeze artists, barkers, clowns, Indians, tumblers, magicians, and side show freaks to entertain the audience jammed in every chair which the neighbors could muster for the performance.

The circus patrons gave generously to all side attractions, including fish pond, refreshment stand, "wild animal" exhibit, ring toss, and candy stand, because they knew every penny was going for the benefit of children who are not as fortunate as the children in their own neighborhood — those youngsters attending the Crippled Children's Center which is located in the nurses' home at the Bothwell Hospital.

Only one incident marred the entire evening. That was the unscheduled event of one of the neighborhood dogs, "Rascal", who was billed and caged as the "wild boar from Africa". The dog found himself too closely associated with "Cootie", the loveable neighborhood cat, who was definitely mis-cast as a ferocious tiger. The dog upset his cage and played havoc with the orange crate housing the cat, and the circus lovers found themselves amid one of the biggest dog and cat fights which has ever happened. This was something with which the kids in the circus could not cope, and it took a couple of "Hye, Rubes" to get a father in the crowd, who was temporarily drafted as a roustabout, to settle the "wild boar" and send this animal into an early circus retirement.

Special guest at the circus was Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the Center, who joined in the fun and graciously accepted the proceeds at the conclusion of the performance — a sum of $5.76. This to Mrs. Swope and officials of the comparatively new Crippled Children's Center was worth as much as a $500 donation because of the spirit in which the money was raised.

FHA Having Its Second Largest Year

Herb Studer, director of the Kansas City office of the Federal Housing Administration, reports on the volume of applications received and insurance written for the Western Missouri District for the first six months of 1956, as compared with the same period of 1955. Applications received on one to four family dwelling units for the six month period ending June 30, 1956, numbered 3,848 for 3,875 units compared with 4,667 applications for 4,723 units during the same period of 1955.

It is further reported by Studer that the insurance written during the same period of 1956 amounted to $14,055,400 as compared with $17,612,127 for the first six months of 1955. Studer pointed out that while both applications received and insurance written is below that of 1955, this compares favorably with the balance of the nation. Furthermore, even with the drop in business during the first six months period of 1956, the figures are far in excess of any six month period for any previous years in the history of the Kansas City office except 1955, strongly indicating that 1956 will be the second largest year only exceeded by the unprecedented volume of business transacted in 1955.

Safety Council Gives Award To Postmen

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has accepted today, on behalf of more than half a million postal employees, the National Safety Council's 1955 "Citation for Meritorious Service to Safety."

The award, which is the second annual award of its kind ever received by the Postal Service, cited the Post Office Department's "contribution to public safety through an outstandingly successful community by community traffic safety program in 1955."

The presentation was made by Mr. Ned H. Dearborn, president, National Safety Council, in ceremonies held at 4 p.m. in the Post Office Department, Twelfth and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., in Washington D.C.

In accepting the award on behalf of postal employees, Mr. Summerfield noted that the Post Office Department operates approximately 85,000 vehicles over a distance of more than 850 million miles a year.

The 1955 accident rate for this fleet, the largest in the world, was approximately three accidents for each 100,000 miles driven, in metropolitan areas, where the bulk of the postal vehicles operate; contrasted with a rate of 13 for each 100,000 miles driven in 1953.

A total of 90,000 postal drivers are enrolled in the National Safety Council's Safe Driver Award program, Mr. Summerfield added, and 31,000 of these individuals in 1955 earned National Safety Council Safe Driver Awards—the nation's highest recognition for professional safe driving—for their accident free driving of 1955.

Subtle Empire Emphasis On Ladies' Suits

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Ladies should lift their chins and look proud this fall, says diminutive designer Adele Simpson, whose collection of fall fashions climaxed a crowded week of style previews for the visiting press.

There's a subtle Empire emphasis in her new suits, a new accent in her dresses and costumes, a prim and ladylike air to the entire group of fashions designed for a brilliant fall and winter season.

Notable is her wingback bolero suit with demi-belt front, shown in a series of high colors in featherweight tweeds, says Mrs. Simpson.

"The body should be able to move freely inside the suit."

She refuses to make clothes that nip the waistline or bind the bustline, preferring instead an unaccented and semifitted line that accentuates feminine curves even more than the exaggerated cinched waists and emphasized busts of a few seasons ago.

Suits are likely to have a tiny half-belt just below the shoulder blades in back, or a bow, or a detail or tucking or stitching. Jackets are either waist or hip-bone length and skirts are uniformly slim. Fabrics are suave and sophisticated, the woollens whisper-weight, and silks rich and rustling.

Wider, higher belts are used on daytime dresses.

The House of Hattie Carnegie carries on the tradition of the famous "Little Carnegie Suit" even though the guiding genius of the house is no longer there. Since the recent death of the dynamic little queen of the New York fashion industry, her family and staff have continued in her footsteps, turning out a collection bearing the unmistakable mark of the founder. Here again are the perfectly executed suits with surprise feminine touches, the suave afternoon dresses, the well-bred cocktail and evening clothes that always manage to anticipate a change in the fashion picture, and usually to be one step ahead.

The installation was conducted by Governor Buck Curtis, installing regent; Mrs. Mord Robb, installing guide; Mrs. Walter McMellen, installing chaplain; and Mrs. William Luther, installing pianist. Mrs. Leo Robb served as installation chairman.

Other officers installed were: Junior graduate regent, Mrs. Garnet Starkey; junior regent, Mrs. Ray Teel; chaplain, Mrs. Tom McNally; recorder, Mrs. A. R. Paterson; treasurer, Mrs. William Miller; sentinel, Mrs. Guy Backman; argus, Mrs. Ray Taylor; pianist, Mrs. Ruth Mahnen; guide, Mrs. Karen Marcum; assistant guide, Mrs. Leo Gentes.

After the installation Mrs. Garnet Starkey, retiring regent, was presented a gift from her co-workers in appreciation of the splendid leadership and the many accomplishments achieved during her term. To conclude the ceremony, the new regent and the retiring regent were each presented a bouquet of red roses.

The refreshment table featured a centerpiece of blue larkspur in a milk glass bowl. Blue candles and bouquets of blue blossoms in white milk glass vases carried out the blue and white colors chosen by the new officers.

Sedalia Students Attend Music Camp in Kansas

Twenty-six states are represented in the enrollment of 362 high school boys and girls announced by the Midwestern Music and Art Camp, which is halfway through its six-week session at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.

Two Sedalia students are members of the camp. Kansas, with 186 campers, has the largest state delegation, followed by Missouri with 65 and Oklahoma with 31. Ten campers are from Texas, nine each from Nebraska and Arkansas, eight from Illinois, six each from Ohio and Iowa and five from Indiana.

The group is divided into 248 music enrollees, 62 art, 22 ballet and 30 theater. Not included are the 57 students who attended the science and mathematics division, held the first two weeks of the camp. The campers are not restricted to the division in which they are enrolled, but may study in other parts of the camp if they have time.

Time is a precious commodity to the campers, however. The musicians prepare weekly concerts by the 200-piece band, 100-piece orchestra and 162-voice chorus, study music theory and take private lessons. Art and ballet students have a full schedule each day, as do the drama students, who will present three plays. A ballet recital and two recitals by performers from the music division also are scheduled before the camp closes Sunday, July 29.

Sue Heckart, 903 South Ohio, plays flute in the band. Leland Payton, 410 South Grand, plays clarinet in the band, but his main interest is the art division.

4-H Achievement Days

This week should bring one of the biggest events in the 4-H year. Achievement Days are set up to let 4-H members show that they have made some worthy progress during the club year. They are designed for members to display their individual development as well as the exhibits they have completed in their projects. It is our hope that every club will be participating in the event this year and we are looking forward to a very large event.

If you know of an area that does not have a 4-H club and has the possibility—take it upon yourself to invite several families from that area to come in to Achievement Day and see this part of 4-H work. Here also is a place to invite the parents of potential members from your own community.

4-H Livestock Show

Just a reminder to all 4-H members who plan to enter the Livestock Show. Since many of the animals will be worthy of showing at the State Fair, all animals and poultry should be entered at the extension office by noon, Aug. 4. The letter announcing the show had attached to it an entry blank form. Please fill out this blank correctly as to class number. County agents have been warned by State Fair officials that entries made after the closing date will not be accepted.

4-H Chamber of Commerce Picnic

All the preliminary work seems to be well in hand for the 4-H Chamber of Commerce picnic. I was somewhat amazed at the reaction of some of the 4-H members who seem to regard this affair as being only for their benefit and forget that they are to be the hosts at this enormous event. It is easy to forget our role as entertainers and wish to be entertained ourselves. To make this event successful each 4-H member, parent, and leader must pitch in. It is not so much the event but rather the spirit with which it is given that counts so much.

Notice to Junior Leaders

The dates of Oct. 6 and 7 have been cleared to hold a District Junior Leadership Camp at the Knob Noster State Park. This camp will be a session devoted to interests of junior leaders and will be designed in part after the State Junior Leadership Camp. And since this program is in the planning stage at present we can't bring you the details of the camp at this time. The Sears Foundation is sponsoring part of the cost of the camp but it is not likely that this will cover the entire cost of the session so there will probably be a small fee connected with the camp.

This is a district camp and will involve nine counties. As soon as more definite plans are outlined and the program is worked out, it shall be included in this column.

Late Notes on Achievement Day
This is to answer a few questions that have come up on Achievement Day. All 4-H members are eligible to demonstrate and we hope that they will regard less of age.

All exhibit helpers are to help starting at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, July 18. This information was not put on the letter to the helpers.

One-fourth of all farm families in the United States have incomes of less than $1,000 a year.

Sells Tipton Land To Settle Estate

To settle the estate of the late Oscar W. Cole, the executor, Everett E. Hickman, a cousin, sold at the courthouse in California, 20 acres of land located several miles southeast of Tipton.

Charley Elminger bought the five acres, on which the home is located, for $3,100 and Louis O. Knipp, Jr., bought 15 acres for $1,100. Both properties adjoin that of the purchasers and Mr. and Mrs. Elminger plan to move from their present farm home to that of the one just bought.

Cole had willed his entire estate to the Mt. Moriah Baptist Church and the Mt. Moriah Cemetery Association, each to share equally.

Develops Subdivision Just South of Tipton

E. L. Fischer, Tipton factory owner, is developing a new subdivision which is located just south of Highway 50 and which is known as Park View Heights.

Streets, curbs and all modern utilities will be included and one new home has already been built by Fischer.

Altogether there are 18 building lots in the attractive location.

Names Selken Farm Regional Winner

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce this week named the Paul Selken Farm of Pettis County regional winner in the Mid-America Jubilee Dairy Contest, and thus it becomes one of the six dairy farms in the Central United States to exhibit eight head each in the finals of the inter-breed competition at the coming Mid-America Jubilee at St. Louis, which is billed as St. Louis' Second World's Fair.

Lowell O. Burns, director of agriculture for the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, in company with Illinois and Missouri dairy extension specialist spent Wednesday last week at the Selken Farm on the tour of inspection through the area.

The contest, the first of its kind ever held, is divided into two phases, the dairy farm itself and the efficiency of operation determining the six regional winners and the final phase, the actual exhibit of the herd itself in the inter-breed competition.

Rose Leibbrand

ing and frogging, and these experiences were tame considering what she had done in other places.

Miss Leibbrand went into real estate and became a real estate broker. She also handled insurance. She studied law at the University of Missouri, Columbia, assisting Miss Palmer in the office of Pettis County collector when needed. She was active in helping to promote music in the community and other civic activities.

She had always wanted a gift shop, so when she had an opportunity to buy one she did. Then came an offer to buy a newspaper, the Smithton Times. Since the newspaper business was her first love, she bought the Smithton Times and found there was no place to have it published. The woman who had the paper before her had it printed in towns surrounding Smithton but Rose went from one place to the other and nobody had time to help her out. So she bought a Linotype and a press.

She learned to operate both the press and the Linotype, and gradually the newspaper improved in quality. Miss Leibbrand bought a small new home between Sedalia and Smithton and began to participate in Smithton projects. All this was interrupted by illness which was diagnosed as lead poisoning from her work in the print shop, and that venture had to be discontinued.

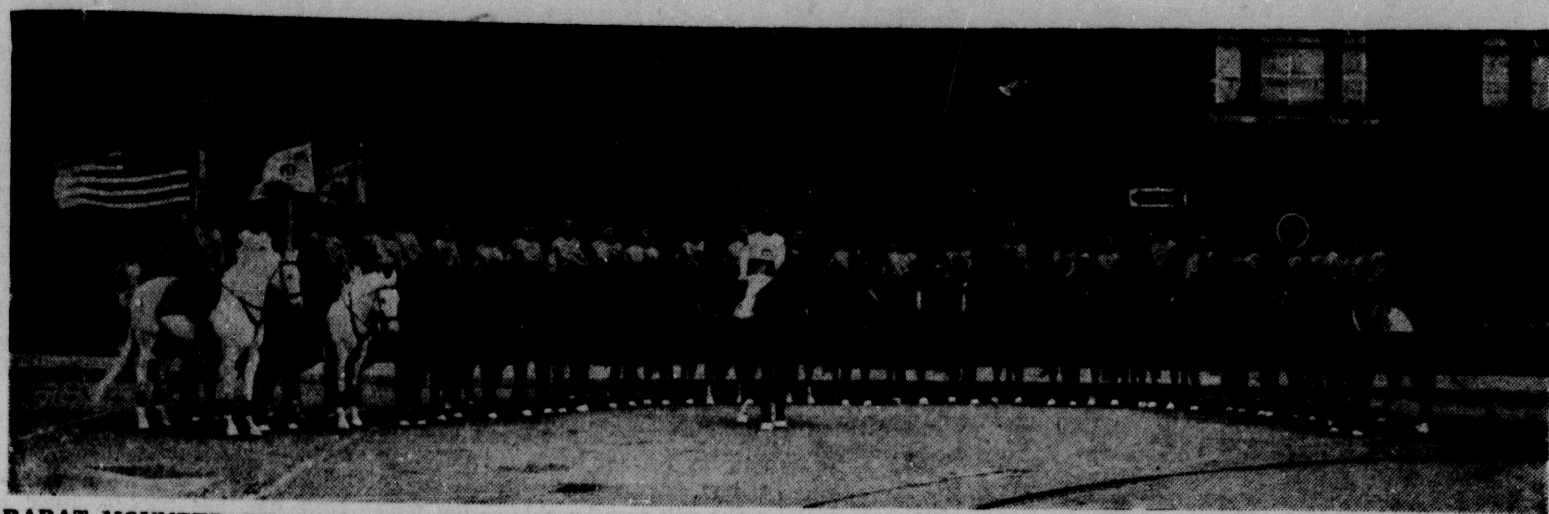

All during that time, and before Hazel Palmer had started her climb up the ladder to national fame, Miss Leibbrand had been her admirer and friend. She went with Miss Palmer to the national biennial conventions in Boston, in St. Louis and this year in Miami Beach, Fla.

But when the appointment to the high office of executive director of the new Business and Professional Women's National Federation came, it was a complete surprise. The national board selected her for the job and even her good friend, Miss Palmer, had not known beforehand.

The position carries a salary, and Miss Leibbrand will begin her duties immediately in the new headquarters in Washington.

ARARAT MOUNTED GUARD—The Mounted Guard was organized in 1925 as one of the Uniformed Units of Ararat Shrine Temple, by a group of men at the Kansas City Stock Yards. For a good many years it was the only Shrine Mounted Guard unit in the United States. Since that time the Guard has made many pilgrimages all over the United States and Canada to Shrine Ceremonials. This Unit has long been considered outstanding in their execution of Precision Drilling. In addition to their other activities they annually give an exhibition drill as one of the features of the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City. Horses used by the Guard are matched in color and size as uniformly as possible, consisting entirely of Bays standing 15.1 to 15.3 hands high.

Shriners Have Ceremonial Here Aug. 11

The Shriners are coming to town again, those fellows with the little red fezes, the bright colored uniforms, the big black cannibal looking creatures who try to make dates with the girls, yes sir—on Saturday, Aug. 11, the Kansas City Ararat Shriners will be in Sedalia with parade, bands and monkey-shines for the big jurisdictional ceremonial.

The illustrious Potentate, Roy P. Swanson, will be here, too, and taking part in the ceremonial will be Sedalia, Clinton, Windsor, Warrensburg, Carrollton, Richmond, Marshall, Lee's Summit and Booneville Shrine Clubs all with candidates to be taken into Ararat Shrine.

Preparations are being made by the Sedalia Shrine Club for the big event. Officers of the Sedalia Club are: president, William Don McQueen; vice-president, Harold Coffelt; secretary, Floyd G. Knerl; T. W. Augur, treasurer; W. L. Reed, chairman of the board; and Ray Williams, W. Z. Heady, L. C. Judd, Roy Spears, Howard M. Brown, members of the board.

The Sedalia Shrine Club is very pleased to have the jurisdictional ceremonial again held here because it is a rare thing to hold it two years in succession in the same city, but the Kansas City Ararat Shrine members felt they had such a good time in Sedalia last year that they chose to have it here again.

The big affair will begin at 1 p.m. on Aug. 11, with candidates registering at the Smith-Cotton High School lobby; then at 2 p.m. there will be a spectacular street parade downtown with a number of extra features following the parade.

The remainder of the afternoon will be devoted to the business meeting and the ceremonial ending with the traditional feast at 6 p.m.

Business, Professional Women Honor Hazel Palmer at Dinner

The Business and Professional Women's Club dinner meeting on Thursday night at Bothwell Hotel was honoring the newly elected national president, Miss Hazel Palmer, although Hazel was far away in Montreal, Canada. The 12 members of the local club who went to Miami Beach, Fla., to see her elected were thrilled that they came back with a national president and on the back of the program was a crowing rooster with the words, "Something to crow about."

A large picture of Hazel was in a conspicuous place back of the speaker's table and Mrs. Anna Bagby, president of the local club, gave the highlights of the convention. Others who attended the biennial convention and added a few things to Mrs. Bagby's talk were Mrs. Lily Thomas, Mrs. Ike L. Warren, Mrs. Kathryn Rosenkrans and Mrs. Marjorie Garansson.

Mrs. Bagby stated that Miss Rose Leibbrand, Mrs. Rosenkrans, and Mrs. Garansson stayed with Miss Palmer the entire time, sharing her suite and taking care of everything that goes with such a big job as being elected to national president. She said she was the escort at the reception in Hazel's honor and that Miss Eva Evans was hostess and Mrs. Warren was a greeter at the Missouri luncheon.

The second honor to come to the Sedalia Club was then announced by Mrs. Bagby. That was the appointment of Miss Leibbrand as executive director of the National Federation headquarters in Washington, D. C. Miss Leibbrand resigned as parliamentarian of the Sedalia Club, an office to which she had recently been elected, but stated that although she would be in Washington, she would retain her membership in the local club.

The singing was led by Mrs. Cecil Peoples with Miss Doris Stott at the piano and consisted of songs written for Miss Palmer by Missourians and sung at the convention.

Mrs. Bagby presided over the meeting and invocation was by Mrs. Ray Crosslin.

Janet Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Riley, representative to Girls State sponsored by the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, gave a very interesting report of the activities and the experiences she had at Girls State. Janet stated she felt this would help her to be a better citizen, that she might enter in to the civic activities of her community in a few years.

Mrs. Ike L. Warren, program coordinator, presented chairman of the past year who told of the way in which programs were planned. Each chairman is responsible for one meeting during the year. Mrs. Warren said, and the chairmen plan the programs on a local, state and national level. She stressed the importance of committee members attending meetings called by their chairmen.

One of the most important committees, Mrs. Warren said, is membership, and she introduced Miss Doris Stott, membership chairman.

Miss Stott told the group that they now had 154 members and had made the honor roll this year by having the dues paid on time. She told the group that she hoped to raise the membership this year to 200. Miss Stott then introduced two new members, Mrs. Myrtle Snyder and Mrs. Edith Demott. She also said they hoped to have an indoctrination program for new members.

Mrs. C. A. Wright, a member of the public affairs committee of which Mrs. Emory Bowman was chairman, told of the work that committee had done in assisting in getting out the vote, being hostesses for the Air Force picnic and the Business Women's Week activities which included a banquet to which there were 375 reservations.

Mrs. Warren reported on the finance committee of which Mrs. Frank Wagner was chairman and also on the international committee of which Mrs. W. G. Borne was chairman. She stated this committee was to bring better understanding between business women in all parts of the world.

Mrs. A. F. Scott, chairman of the security committee, stressed the fact that security is a state of mind and is your responsibility. She urged the necessity of citizens of the community doing their part in the Ground Observer Corps. Security, she pointed out, should be in the minds of everybody not only in possibility of dropping bombs but in any kind of disaster.

Miss Helen Giokaris, legislative chairman, stated this was a national and state program and this committee, too, helped to get out the vote.

Miss Opal O'Brian, educational and vocation chairman, told of the various things that her committee did, including the selecting of a girl for Girls' State and of giving $25 to help defray the expenses of judges for the district wool contest.

Mrs. Everett Stumpf, news service chairman, told of the publicity in the local paper and on radio.

Mrs. Carl Yates, chairman of radio and television, told of the programs on business women.

The health and safety committee report was given by the chairman, Mrs. Lily Thomas, who told how this committee assisted in many ways in the community by giving food, clothing and other gifts where needed and by helping with various health programs. She urged a bicycle safety program for the coming year.

Mrs. Warren then told how Mrs. Thomas, through the BPWC committee, had attended the organization of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and became its first president.

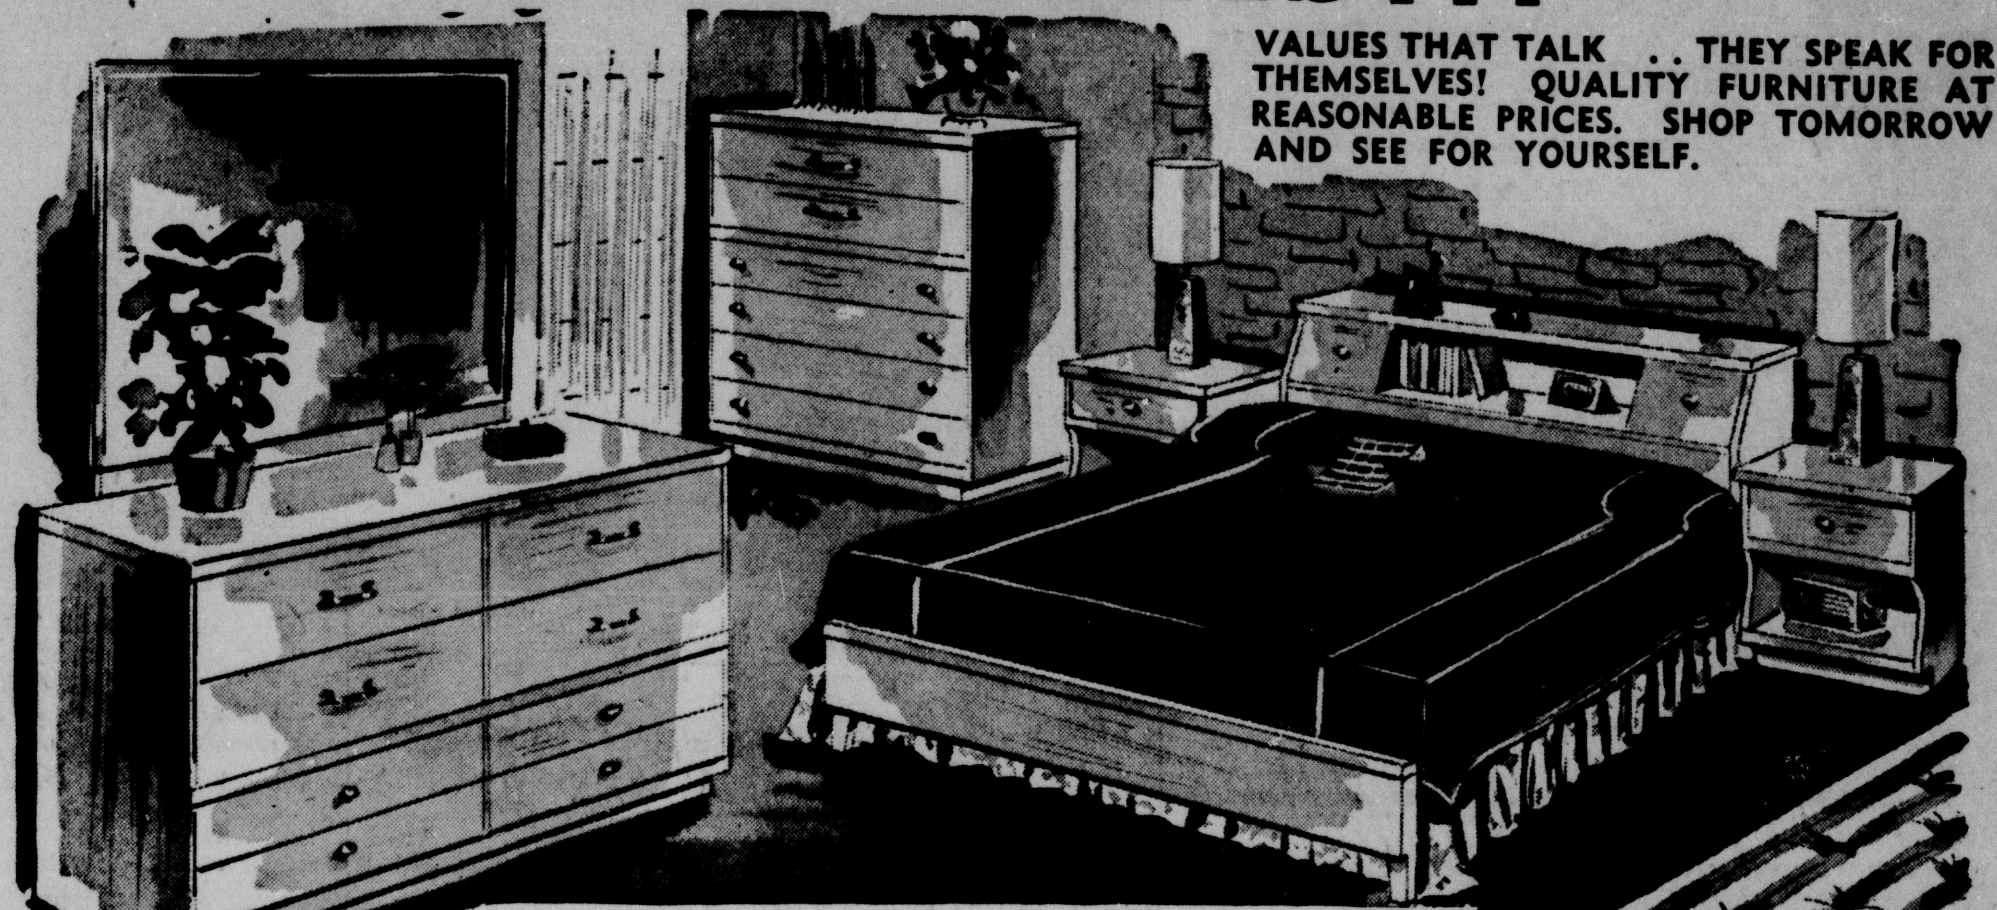

Continuing with her committees, Mrs. Warren told of the scholarship committee, of which Mrs. A. B. Burke is chairman. This committee offers a scholarship for any deserving girl who needs help in furthering her education.

She also told of the service committee chairmen, Mrs. Ruth C. Riley, music; Mrs. Everett White, hospitality; Mrs. John Welch, special projects; Miss Alma Adams, telephone; and Mrs. P. V. Scotten, social.

Guests introduced were Mrs. C. A. Evans, Chicago, former Sedalia, Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, Mrs. John Riley and Mrs. Jim Sherman.

Enjoy Things Together--

Catherine, Frances Garman Began Teaching Because of Their Family of Teachers Here

The Garman sisters, Catherine and Frances, took up teaching because they came from a family of teachers. Both of their father's parents taught for awhile in their early life, two of their father's sisters were teachers and their mother's sister taught before she was married. "Then," explained Catherine, "at the time I finished high school teaching was considered one of the more desirable positions for young women and there weren't so many opportunities in other fields like there are now."

"If I had it to do over again, I think I would still take teaching," continued Catherine. "I like boys and girls. I like to work with them. Teaching isn't easy, but it certainly has compensations, not altogether in dollars and cents."

And considering the same question, Frances feels just like Catherine. If she had it to do over again, she would still want to be a teacher.

Frances was born in Sedalia but lived in Kansas for a time. Catherine was born in Kansas but the Garman sisters have spent most of their life in Sedalia. Catherine has never tried teaching any place else. She never saw any reason to—after all, this was her home and she wanted to teach at home.

"Anyway," says Catherine, "Sedalia has always had a good school system and I am glad and proud to have been connected with it. All of my teaching has been in the elementary schools, Jefferson, Whittier and Washington."

During that time she has taught in all the grades. Then she served as principal, when she was needed, first of Jefferson School and then of Whittier. When she felt that someone else might take over the job of principal, she asked that she might be transferred from principal of Whittier to a teaching position. Although the superintendent and school board felt that she had done a grand job as principal in both of the schools in which she had served, they granted her request and gave her the fourth grade in Washington School. This was exactly what Catherine wanted. Washington is in her home district—in fact, only a couple of blocks from where she lives. Then, too, it was the school in which Frances teaches.

Catherine was glad they gave her the fourth grade because she likes children of this age. They are unusually very active and alert, beginning to have many interests.

"They are also independent," Catherine added. "I try to remember that I am teaching boys and girls and know they are all different. I try to learn and develop their interests in worthwhile activities. I always encourage reading and visiting the public library regularly. Boys of this age are usually interested in collections and outdoor activities which I try to encourage."

Frances started teaching in Sedalia, but once when she was visiting relatives in the state of California she had the urge to see what it would be like to teach in Fresno, Calif. She went to the county superintendent's office to inquire about qualifications to teach there. She found a deputy who had lived in Pettis County and when he heard that she had taught under Mrs. Ethel McCluney Housel, he said that was a recommendation, so he helped her secure a position. She taught for three years in an Americanization program.

The work she found was most interesting. It was teaching English to foreign children, six or eight nationalities in an ungraded room. Children were from six to 20 years old. Older ones had been to school in their own countries and, as soon as they understood and spoke English, went on with their own age group. It was certainly a different kind of work. She liked it, but it seemed good to get back to Sedalia again.

It isn't any wonder that the Garman sisters are such dyed-in-the-wool Sedalians. Their mother's grandfather was one of the first land owners in Sedalia. He first settled in Georgetown but came here with the group to start the new town of Sedalia.

The two sisters attended Summit School in Sedalia and were then graduated from Sedalia High School. Catherine attended Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, receiving her bachelor's degree and then went to the University of Missouri, where she received her master's degree. Frances attended summer school in Warrensburg while teaching in the winter and was graduated from CMSC, later taking graduate work at the Missouri University.

Frances teaches the first grade at Washington. When she first started teaching, Miss Minnie Shaffer, at that time principal of Whittier School where she was teaching, advised her to prepare to teach primary grades. It was good advice, said Frances, because she had the proper credentials for the work she was doing.

There is always a feeling of wonder and anticipation at the beginning of school, says Catherine. You wonder if you will be able to reach the children assigned to you and give them the guidance and instruction they need for their best development.

Enjoying the same type of things, Frances and Catherine have a grand time doing things together. They belong to the East Broadway Christian Church where Frances has taught the primary department since she was in high school. They are both active in church work and both belong to the Delta Kappa Gamma, a teachers' organization. Catherine is a member of the American Association of University Women and several professional organizations. While in college Frances belonged to a number of honorary scholastic groups.

They love to travel and have taken several trips to the west and southwest, sometimes by train and sometimes by car. They also once took a trip by car through the eastern section of the United States.

Oak Point Club Meets

The Oak Point 4-H Club met on July 6 with Otto and Shirley Tegmeyer. After a short meeting, the group enjoyed refreshments. There were 17 members and 18 visitors present.

Missing Cookie Jar

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton police, unable to find a crumb of evidence in the case of the missing cookie jar containing $900, were about ready to give up when they got a call from the jar's owner.

She sheepishly admitted getting out of bed one night to put the jar where no one could find it. No one did, until the woman cleaned behind a chair.

Mrs. Harvey Herrick

Dorothy Mae Dey, Harvey Herrick Are Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Dorothy Mae Dey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Dey, 423 East 14th, and Harvey C. Herrick, son of Mrs. Golda Herrick and the late Thomas Herrick, 1505 South Kentucky, were united in marriage by the Rev. D. Warren Neal in a double ring ceremony performed June 23 at the Broadway Presbyterian Church before a background of jade foliage and arrangements of blue and white gladioli and majestic daisies tied with white satin. The four candelabra enhanced the scene.

Miss Mabel DeWitt, Sedalia, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Al Domingue, Sedalia, as he sang "Ave Maria," "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Patty Ann Dey, sister of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Dey, cousin of the bride, lighted the tapers with candles tied with white satin, wreathed with blue daisies. They wore identical dresses combining light blue net and white lace over taffeta with blue net stoles covering the shoulders. Their head-dresses were bandeaux of blue tulle.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a snow white gown of imported French tulle heavily embroidered in a flower pattern with a deep scalloped border of embroidery. The very snug bodice was fashioned with a low scoop neckline and very short sleeves. The extremely bouffant skirt was formed of six flounces of scalloped net over a foundation of tulle and bridal satin. From the fitted midriff, each tier graduated in width and fullness and the last flounce flowed into a chapel length train. Her custom designed small half hat of the dress fabric, outlined with seed pearls, held a double illusion veil. She carried a cascade of stephanotis with a shower of white satin centered with a white orchid on a prayer book.

The matron of honor, Mrs. E. W. Hoard, Jr., wore a dress of white nylon marquisette with a sleeveless square neck bodice of tucked marquisette and a fan pleated skirt in ballerina length. Her wide sash with back bow and streamers was sky blue, as was her bandeau. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white daisies tied with blue satin.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Arnold and Miss Nancy Vaughan of Sedalia and Miss Jo Ann Durnell, Independence. They wore gowns identical to the matron of honor, all in one color, sky blue marquisette. They carried colonial bouquets of white and blue daisies with satin streamers.

Virgil Rodgers served as best man. Groomsmen were Myron Herrick, brother of the bridegroom, Thomas Menefee and Jerry Sims. Ushers were William R. Dey, Gene E. Williams, who escorted the bridegroom's mother, Bill Arnold and Charles Stockstill, who escorted the bride's mother.

Little Miss Jaynee Rhoads, five, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rhoads, Sedalia, was flower girl and wore a dress of light blue organdy over taffeta and a hair-band of blue daisies. She carried a white basket filled with blue and white rose petals. Master Gary Bob Dey, three, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dey, Sedalia, acted as ring-bearer and wore a white linen suit. The mother of the bride was dressed in aqua blue cotton lace with a draped midriff of aqua taffeta. Her half hat was fashioned of taffeta to match her dress. She wore an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dusty pink lace dress with white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. The maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ida Rhoads, wore a light blue lace dress with navy accessories.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding in the service building of the church for 200 guests. The wedding cake was encircled with a wreath of fern and Miss Mary Jane Jones Pledges Vows with Martin E. Tew, Jr.

Miss Mary Jane Jones, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbern Hayes, Houstonia, became the bride of Martin Everett Tew, Jr., Des Moines, Ia., in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock, Saturday evening, July 7, at Range Line Presbyterian Church with the Rev. W. L. Robb officiating. The altar was beautifully decorated with large baskets of gladioli and candelabra with white tapers.

The candles were lighted by Miss Alma Jane Morris and Miss Mary K. Hayes who carried candles trimmed with pink holders and streamers and wearing wristlets of pink carnations. They wore dresses of pink flecked with white, princess styled, with matching headbands.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. W. R. Tobin played "Oh, Promise Me," "Mid Summer Night's Dream," "Love's Old Sweet Song," and Lohengrin's "Wedding March." Mrs. Davis Robb sang "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Wilbern Hayes, wore a wedding dress of white nylon net and lace, made with fitted bodice, high neckline, and a full, waltz-length skirt. She wore a short veil attached to a cap of white tulle and nylon, and carried a white Bible with lilies of the valley and white streamers.

The maid of honor, Miss Frances Jones, sister of the bride, Phoenix, Ariz., wore a dress of green with white flecks identical in style to the other attendants. She carried a bouquet of carnations with orchid streamers.

Miss Darlene Jones, Houstonia, sister of the bride, and Miss Edra Tew, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore orchid dresses and carried carnation corsages with green streamers.

INTERLOCKING BRIDAL PAIRS

by Orange Blossom

by Frances Sagaloff

You'll soon be getting your fall wardrobe together and of course, you will want it to be as near perfect as possible. It is a good time to shop around and find a salesgirl you can have complete confidence in, and who will have your interest at heart. Your basic wardrobe is important and she can help you acquire the items that will give you the proper outfit round the clock. She can also be a watch dog for you and when something comes in that you especially need, she can call you. She will have patience with you in trying on new styles and colors, and be honest with you in how they look and what they will do for you. Selecting your basic wardrobe, of course, is only part of the problem. The accessories you select, the underpinning and your make-up is just as important. It is smart to select as much of your wardrobe in one shop as possible, then you can try it all on together and see how the different garments look. Very frequently the same set of accessories will be correct for several outfits. Remember early selections are always wise, particularly coats, and suits, so take time out now and at least start looking.

Ted Dabners Help 4-H'ers Open House

Sedalia's interested in youth could spend a short time or a long time Sunday afternoon at the Ted Dabner home on South Marshall Avenue and be amazed at what one man has accomplished with a group of boys and two girls.

Open house will be held by the Striped College 4-H Club Woodwork Class, and the many things that the boys have made will be on display. These are things that may be used inside or outside of any home, beautiful pieces of furniture, lamps, decorative articles, lawn chairs, everything. The Dabner workshop looks like a furniture store.

This hasn't been done in a few days, it has been done over a long period of time, several months, and Ted Dabner and his wife, Marie, have given many evenings to this wonderful work. And how have they found time in this busy age in which we live? Somehow you wonder because Ted has a job at the Missouri Pacific shops as well as farming the sizable piece of farmland he owns. Marie, too, has a full time job of keeping house, working in organizations for which she makes the cleverest decorations and favors, doing all sorts of things and taking care of two fine boys.

Ted doesn't go around in circles. His one thought is to train one little group of boys to be better citizens, to work on what might be classed as a hobby but one that really pays off in later years when these youngsters have homes of their own and need to do repairs or make furniture. He teaches them what each tool is for and how it should be used. He shows them exactly how to make things out of wood and then once a year he lets them proudly exhibit the work they have done to the public.

Since, perhaps, about February Ted has given four evenings of his time a week to this woodwork project and always Marie serves refreshments. This doesn't seem hard to the happy Dabners because their own interests are wrapped up in their sons. The 4-H woodwork is a pleasure, for in this way they are given an opportunity to enjoy other youngsters of their community and at the same time contribute to the great program of 4-H work that is being offered to rural boys and girls over the nation by men and women who will give their time to be teachers as well as leaders.

Members of the 4-H Woodwork Club of which Dabner is leader are: Patty Jo Rodewald, Mary Louise Bahner, Tommy Dee Carter, Don Eye, Ralph Eye, Billy Eye, John Dale Hansen, Arthur Bahner, Bobby Bahner, Charles Kruger, Tommy Leiter, Donald Shirley, Ralph Morarity, Bonnie Schupp, Jerry Hilburn, Jerry Smith, John Bohon, Michael Riley, Philip Rosenwald, Larry Perkins, Kim Dabner, William Finley, Leland Finley, Eddie Shipley and Allen Gwinnett.

Michael Dabner, who is only nine years old doesn't belong to the 4-H Club yet, but, said his brother Kim, who is 12 years old, he will next year.

Greatest Temple

The 3,000-year-old Egyptian temple of Amun, greatest of Egyptian temples, was 338 feet wide and 1,228 feet long. There was enough room inside to hold the cathedrals of Milan and Notre Dame plus St. Paul's of London.

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

The revived enthusiasm displayed among the younger Country Club golfers the past two weeks over participation in the Club's junior championship has brought to mind the fact that Sedalia's golfing program for youngsters isn't near what it should be.

Golf provides good exercise, helps develop one's competitive spirit, and breeds sportsmanship, among its many character-building features. And the need for a full and active golfing program, especially for the younger set, should be given more than just a passing notice.

In the Country Club's case, you'll find that only a very small number of young boys, and girls, have developed their interest in golf to such that they play often and work to improve their proficiency at it. And for what? Aside from their individual satisfaction of ability to play well, their opportunities for putting it to a competitive test are almost nil. The junior championship of the Club is its only competitive event of the year for that age bracket.

The Sedalia Jaycees, however, have certainly done their part in promoting golf among the youth. Their annual Jaycee Junior Tournament held each spring gives all boys under 18 a chance to play against the state's best of younger players in the Missouri Junior championship event, and from there a chance to go into international competition. Which is a commendable effort by the Jaycees and it has been a rewarding one. As for Sedalia's Countryview public course, it has been so busy drumming up golfing interest among the older players, and initiating an active program for the women golfers, that the younger potential enthusiasts have been neglected.

Maybe some of Sedalia's civic organizations could pitch in and help push such a program for the local youth in golf, similar to what the Jaycees have done.

But first, and most important, any such plan would have to start from the foundation, which means proper attention must be given the younger golfers at both Sedalia courses. And then I'm sure it would make great strides in participation.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

BASEBALL Appreciation Day really turned out to be an overwhelming success. Sedalians turned out en masse to attend the ball game at Liberty Park Thursday night and, incidentally, were rewarded with a well played game between the Sedalia Ban Johnson and the Sedalia Athletics clubs.

For those baseball fans who have not been attending ball games the earlier portion of the year, saw first handed what type baseball is being played here. For those who have been attending regularly they were rewarded with another good game.

The Bee Jays came through to win over the A's 2-1, with the help of southpaw Bill McKelvie, Mendon, who allowed but two hits. The Bee Jays picked up five hits off of Brown and Imhauser.

Nevertheless, Sedalia did show its appreciation, but their appreciation could be well taken from now on out to the end of the season. We told you fans earlier in the year of the type of baseball that could be seen, and my predictions were well warranted over the results of the game between the two big teams of the town.

You cannot go wrong in attending the Little League games either. Although it isn't "Big League" baseball, followers of baseball have an opportunity to see the real hearts of youth in the game, as well as what the future holds for Sedalia in baseball.

The same goes for the Babe Ruth League. This league is a stepping stone for the better players from Little League into faster baseball. Here the fan has an opportunity of seeing some more real heart-playing baseball and what is expected to come on up to Ban Johnson and even Semi-Pro ball of the community.

You support is needed season round and not just on one BIG DAY.

But the THANKS of these local ball players from Little League on up through Semi-Pro is extended to those who turned out Thursday night.

RETURNING from vacation to Miami Beach, where I attended the International Convention of Lions, I had the opportunity to see recreation going strong. Through the South, Little League is grabbing hold, and at Ft. Meyers is a big deal. I was told the interest in the game there, which incidentally was being played at the Lions Park, THE PARK in the city, which has gained wide support.

On up through other states and cities through which we passed the parks were alive with baseball from youngsters on up to semi-pro, and in several of the cities recreational programs under paid recreational directors, are thriving. They have both young and old interested in recreation and is paying dividends in making a lot of people happy and healthy.

Sedalia could well follow these recreational programs, and pattern them after Marshall's plan, our nearest city, which has a paid director. It is clicking and is continually growing not only through the summer but during the winter months as well.

ATTENTION has been called to the annual Soap Box Derby of Cub Pack No. 58, Sacred Heart School, which has been set for Saturday, July 28. The derby is to be run on Barrett between Broadway and Fifth, which street will be blocked off by the police and the Street and Alley Department for that morning.

Although Sedalia hasn't gotten into the Soap Box Derby program in any great strides, the Cub Pack 58 is heading it up for a future.

Members of the 58 Pack will be the only entries this year. Their "machines" must have been constructed by the boys with the help of their Dads. There is no regulations on the weight or size, just so they have four wheels and a steering wheel.

The race is scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m. on the scheduled date.

Week's Schedule Announced--

Hamm's, Sealst Win Friday Night in Industrial League

The Hamm's Beer players, undefeated in league play, were almost caught napping Friday night by the scrappy Moose Club when they had to come from behind to notch a 2-1 victory in the Industrial League games at Housel Park.

The Moose rang up the first tally in the third inning on a base-on-balls and two singles. Hamm's also capitalized on a walk and two singles in the bottom half of the third to tie up the score 1-1.

Then again in the fourth, Hamm's struck for a run to take a 2-1 edge and were able to hold the Moose subdued for the remainder of the contest.

The winning pitcher, St. Cyr, gave up four hits while the loser, Tenencher, was tagged for six safeties by Hamm's.

In the second game of the evening Sealst Milk clubbed Tom's TV Service 11-6.

J. Violet was accredited the win although he was substituted in the fifth frame after allowing five runs to score.

Frazer and Dotson provided the power for the Sealst's assault. Frazer clouted three singles and a homer, and Dotson doubled and homered for the victors.

Rained out games have forced some changes in next week's Industrial League schedule. Follow-

Made Same Decision 28 Years Ago--

Tunney Says Marciano Chose Right by Retiring as Champ

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, July 14.—"Rocky" did the right thing. He established himself as champion, solidly enough to justify anybody's definition of a champion. Everybody has to get licked. Rocky was smart to quit when he did."

The speaker was Gene Tunney, only heavyweight champion ever to retire unbeaten and stay retired. He sat at his desk, high above the rainy street, and looked back through the mists of 28 years when he made the same decision as Rocky Marciano.

"It was tempting to go on," he said. "I offered Dempsey (Jack) a half a million dollars for a third fight but he turned it down. I wanted the money but most of all I wanted to prove once and for all that I could beat him."

"If I hadn't met the girl who was to become my wife, I probably would have gone on. I felt I was at my best when I fought Tom Henney in my last fight July 26, 1928. I think I could have held my peak for another year or two."

"But I think I made the right decision. Eventually you get licked. Even John L. Sullivan met his master."

Tunney is a wealthy man now. Director of 10 or 12 companies, he has a plush office in a building on Vanderbilt Avenue. As he talked, the phone kept interrupting with calls from Phoenix, Chicago and Los Angeles. At 58 there is no trace of gray and his face is unmarked. He weighs about 215 pounds as compared to his fighting weight of 192 1/2.

His four children have grown up. Gene Jr., is a senior at Yale, Varick just finished Yale and will enter the University of Virginia law school in the fall. Jonathan is in the Marines and Joan is in school at Baltimore. In a few weeks, the entire family will take off for Tokyo to visit Jonathan who followed in his dad's footsteps into the Marine Corps.

Tunney follows boxing casually now. He watches on television but shows up at ringside only when there is a big heavyweight match.

"Archie Moore is a professional," he said with admiration. "He'd have licked anybody in the world except Marciano the night they fought. Did you see how he knocked him down with a counter punch, high on the forehead. A little lower and Rocky would have been out. As it was he got a little help from the rules."

"Marciano was a joy to watch among modern fighters. He had it right here," Tunney pointed to his heart. "He'd miss three and land one. That was enough."

Although Tunney admired Marciano, he thinks Dempsey would have knocked out Rocky in "a round or two." He says the same thing would have happened to Joe Louis against Dempsey.

"Dempsey was the greatest ever," he said. "I don't put myself in his class. He was a fighter. I was a boxer who could hit and avoid punishment. But I always thought a boxer could lick a fighter."

"Dempsey was awfully hard to hit. It took a straight right hand, none of those looping punches. He'd bob down under a looping punch and counter hard."

Mention of Dempsey naturally brought up the famous "long count" episode of their 1927 match at Chicago when Dempsey floored Tunney who was given a few extra seconds while the referee chased Jack to a neutral corner.

"That was the only round he won," said Tunney. "Everybody forgets that I knocked him down with the first punch of the next round. After the long count which couldn't have been more than 14 seconds, I had a chance to exhibit my ring generalship."

Did Tunney know Marciano personally?

"We met by accident at a restaurant before the Moore fight. He was thinking of retirement then and wanted to talk to me about it. I told him he had established himself as a champion and couldn't get any more by fighting. I asked him if he ever had read Jack London's 'The Game,' a story of a conscientious young man who took just one more fight to arrange for his family financially and never came out of it."

"When Rocky told me of the pressure on him I knew it was only a matter of time before he quit. With me there was no pressure. Only a few knew about my engagement when I retired. He had his mother, his wife and his baby. He did the right thing."

There was time for just one more question because a weekend house guest was waiting outside, ready to be driven to Connecticut.

"What do you think of Hurricane Jackson?"

The one-time master boxer gasped.

"I never saw anything like him in the whole wide world. He'd beat anybody in a fight to a finish."

State Babe Ruth Tournament Set Here Aug. 3-5

The annual Missouri State Babe Ruth Tournament is to be held in Sedalia on the weekend of August 3-5 at the Liberty Park baseball stadium. Six teams will invade Sedalia those days to play for the State Championship of Babe Ruth baseball.

Sedalia's Babe Ruth League will play host to the tournament visitors.

The teams which will participate are All-Stars from their respective leagues. The top players from the leagues are picked and comprise the team representing their own area, instead of an individual team winning its own championship and then coming to the tournament.

Cape Girardeau will field two All-Star teams. The Cape Girardeau Babe Ruth program has two separate leagues, the Northern and the Southern Leagues, the only town in the state which has such an extensive program at present.

The other four teams will come from Joplin, Lebanon, Clinton and Sedalia.

The schedule is being arranged and the time of games will be announced within the next few days.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—P.—Jerry Anderson of Forsythe, Mo., leading scorer of the Missouri high school Class M basketball tournament, has been accepted for enrollment at St. Louis University.

The 6-5 Anderson, a jump shot specialist, scored a total of 97 points in four games of the Class M tournament and averaged 24.7 points a game last season.

Eddie Hickey, athletic director of St. Louis University, noted in making the announcement that Anderson is the tenth high school basketball star

Public Links Golf Crown To Buxbaum

Ousts Scarbrough 3-and-2 in 36-Hole Finals for Title

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Dapper Junie Buxbaum, a 128-pound businessman from Memphis, Tenn., today won the National Public Links Golf championship with a 3 and 2 victory over Navy man Bill Scarbrough.

For 29 holes it was a close match, and then big Bill's game began to fall apart. Junie, 37, a former pro, who regained amateur standing in 1953, took advantage of his opponent's mistakes.

Trailing one down, Scarbrough, 32, was strapped at the 30th hole and lost it with a one-over-par six.

Junie then won the next hole by dropping a 25-foot putt.

Then Scarbrough won a hole through official decision.

Buxbaum had marked his ball with a coin a club-head's length from its actual position, so the Navy man's putt would not be stymied. When Junie replaced his ball, he didn't put it in its original place but rather at the point of the coin. That made it two up through 32 holes.

After halving the next hole, the 195-pound Scarbrough, a chief petty officer on leave from the Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Fla., hooked a drive down a sandy bank, missed a shot coming back up and three strokes later conceded the match.

Play over the par 36-36-72 Harding Park municipal course was hampered during the morning by a misty drizzle, but it quit during the afternoon.

Buxbaum and Scarbrough, both natives of Memphis, Tenn., were the survivors of an original list of 1,917 public course amateur golfers who started sectional qualifying the 150 who began play here this week.

Scotch Foursome Golf Tournament At Countryview

A scotch foursome golf tournament will be held at Countryview Club and Golf Course this afternoon when the men and the women will combine their golf in a team affair.

Two teams of one man and one woman golfer compose each scotch foursome. The individuals on each team alternate golf shots to compete for the best medal score for the round.

The couples finishing with the top three scores will be awarded merchandise prizes.

On Sunday, July 22, Countryview will observe a "guest day" when the members will take one guest—preferably a potential golfer—for a day of golf, and the greens fees will be reduced to half-rate for the guests.

J-H Rodeo Ends Tonight At Camdenton

State Officials To Be on Hand for Championship Show

The Fifth Annual J Bar H Rodeo at Camdenton, Mo., swings into its sixth and final performance today when the cowboys will compete for the championship.

Rodeo director Harry B. Nelson has expressed delight at the record-breaking attendance the event has drawn during its first five days this year. For the five days since it opened Tuesday, over 55,000 rodeo fans from throughout the United States have thrilled to the shows of skill in bareback bronc riding, bulldogging, brahma bull riding and many other of the exciting program features. More than 13,500 attended Saturday's show.

Present for today's championship wind-up will be Governor Phil M. Donnelly, Ia. Gov. James T. Blair Jr., and other state officials.

Following tabulation of points compiled by the cowboys, Governor Donnelly will present the championship award of a hand-tooled saddle to the winning cowboy.

Director Nelson announced that 6,000 extra seats have been reserved for late-comers for today's event. Those who wish to call for reservations before leaving for the rodeo are asked to contact the J Bar H Rodeo ticket office in Camdenton.

The championship performance will get underway this evening at 8:30.

Eight Injured In 50 Highway Crash Saturday

Two persons were taken to the Bothwell Hospital and three couples to the WAFB hospital for injuries received in an accident on west 50 Highway about one-half mile west of Dresden about 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Both cars involved in the accident were extensively damaged.

The accident occurred as a 1949 Mercury sedan driven by Earl Kyger, LaMonte, was hit from the rear by a 1955 Pontiac Catalina driven by Ed Hamilton, Kansas City. The back of the Mercury was driven into the pavement of the highway damaging it extensively. The front of the Pontiac was crumpled.

Riding in the Kyger car and examined at the WAFB hospital were: Kyger's wife, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cook, Mr. and Mrs. James Dutton and the children of Kyger, Bettie and Kathie, all of LaMonte. Hamilton was driving his brother-in-law's car. Riding with him were his brother-in-law, Robert Simpson, Mr. Lucille Simpson, his wife and three teen-agers, Ed Hamilton Jr., Lora Clowe, and Gary Salisbury, all of Kansas City. Hamilton was given a summons to appear in magistrate court by Trooper Stohr, who investigated the accident.

US Endorses British Efforts On Cyprus Case

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The United States gave an extremely cautious but none the less definite endorsement today to Britain's new efforts to solve the thorny problem of Cyprus.

Prime Minister Eden announced Thursday he was sending Lord Radcliffe, an outstanding British legal expert, to Cyprus for consultations looking toward drafting of a new "liberal" constitution for the Mediterranean island.

In response to a question about the American attitude toward the new British move, the State Department said today:

"The United States welcomes the intention of the British government, as announced by Prime Minister Eden, to proceed with the development of self government on the island of Cyprus."

State Department officials said privately that the great gain in the situation from the U. S. point of view is that Eden obviously is trying to get the problem off dead center. For many weeks there has been no clear prospect for peaceful settlement of the conflict. The new Eden move now offers hope such a prospect may be opened up.

The contract, retroactive to July 1, was ratified at two membership meetings of the union's Local 148, the second one Friday.

Charlie Hurth, president of the Class AA league, announced the action. He said the Little Rock team will play its first games in Montgomery against New Orleans Friday, July 20.

Rehired ASC Chairman Will Reopen Ag. Office In Boone Co. Monday

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 14.—A Boone County Agricultural Stabilization Committee fired by State ASC Chairman Murray Colbeck last fall and restored to office yesterday by the Department of Agriculture yesterday, will be opening its office here again Monday, members said today.

One of its first jobs will be selection of a new office manager. L. E. Cunningham, whom the ousted committee members once fired, resigned today.

Two members of the ASC committee which replaced the ousted—and now restored trio—will become alternates. A third will be relieved of his duties because no vacancy exists.

Rev. Reifel Attends School For Ministers

The former Taylor Estate, La Foret, is again the meeting place of the Western Pastors' School of the Congregational Christian Churches. 45 ministers and eight wives, together with 16 members of the faculty and their wives, are gathered for a month of intensive study in the fields of theology, Bible, worship, religious education, pastoral theology, and speech.

The Rev. Leonard Reifel, minister of Federated Church and Mrs. Reifel are attending the school on a scholarship awarded by the Board of Home Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Among the faculty are persons of international and national reputation. Dr. Douglas Horton, former Minister of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, and currently Dean of Harvard Divinity School, is the lecturer in theology. Accompanying him is Mrs. Horton, the former Mildred McAfee, who was war-time Director of the WAVES, while on leave of absence from the presidency of Wellesley College; Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, former Secretary of the American Section of the World Council of Churches, and currently Secretary of the Missions Council of the Congregational Churches; Dr. Allen G. Wehrli, Professor of Old Testament, Eden Seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.; Dr. William F. Frazier, formerly Executive Vice President and now Treasurer of the Board of Home Missions; Dr. Ervine Inglis, minister of the Congregational Church, Webster Groves, Mo.; Dr. Harold G. Jones, minister of the Congregational Church, Claremont, Calif.; Miss Grace Storms, Secretary of the Division of Christian Education, Boston, Mass.; Bishop Proculo A. Rodriguez, of the United Church, Mindanao, P. I.; the Rev. Clarence Jordon, Koinonia Farms, Americus, Georgia; Rev. James E. Waeary, Associate Secretary of the Missions Council; Rev. Lorraine Dosssett, minister of Hillyard Congregational Church, Spokane, Wash.; Rev. Samuel Cushing, minister of the Congregational Church, Stanton, Nebraska. Mrs. Harold Jones is giving a course for the wives on the role of the mistress of the manse.

The Dean of the School is Dr. Stanley U. North, General Secretary of the Division of Church Extension and Evangelism of the Board of Home Missions. Mrs. Theresa B. Buist, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., is School secretary.

Twenty states are represented in the student body, with three representatives from Hawaii and one from Mexico. Included are seven men of the Evangelical and Reformed Churches with which the Congregational Christian General Council voted to form a union at the meeting held in Omaha, June 20-27th. The new church is to be known as The United Church of Christ. It is hoped that other denominations will desire to share in this church union movement which has already made considerable progress in Canada, India, and the Philippine Islands.

Presents Certificate To City of Sedalia

The city of Sedalia has been presented a certificate of achievement for going through the year of 1955 without a fatal traffic accident. Mayor Bagby received the certificate-plaque from the National Safety Council for display to citizens of Sedalia.

The certificate reads: "In recognition of accomplishment in completing a year without a fatal motor vehicle traffic accident within the municipal limits."

The certificate is framed in a limited oak frame.

Camp Meeting Will Be Held At Lakecreek

The annual Lakecreek camp meeting will be held this year from July 29 through Aug. 5.

This historical retreat, 12 miles southeast of Sedalia, has been held each summer for over 111 years. The camp was established by the Methodist pioneers in 1845. Normally the meetings are held for a week, however, during the Civil War the worshippers were harassed by roving gangs of guerrillas called "bush whackers" and the camp meeting was broken up early. This was in 1863.

The camp grounds are located in the woods surrounding the Lakecreek Hills, south of Smithton. The meetings are held in a big white canvas tent called a "tabernacle," which is surrounded by small cabins. The cabins house the people from the surrounding communities.

A new tent was purchased this year which will probably serve the camp for another 50 years, which was the age of the previous tent.

Leading ministers and youth leaders from Missouri and nearby states are called in to preach and lead the camp in sacred song-fest. Each evening the country air is filled with song of the young and old.

Although the meetings are conducted by the Methodist Church, various denominations of Sedalia, Stover, Versailles, Otterville, Florence, Clifton City and Pilot Grove cooperate in the sessions. Many former residents of the community arrange their vacations in order to visit with their relatives and old friends during camp meeting time and also obtain inspiration and refreshment on the sacred old camp grounds.

Nomination Candidate Visits Sedalia Friday

State Senator Edward V. Long, Bowling Green, a Democratic candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor, was a visitor in Sedalia Friday. Sen. Long called upon Democratic leaders in Pettis County during his visit here.

He has served Pike County as prosecuting attorney from 1936-40; city attorney of Bowling Green 1940-44; president of the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce; general chairman of Bowling Green fair for five years; treasurer of the Pike County Infirmary Paralysis Association; and member of the board of trustees of Culver-Stockton College.

Sen. Long has been elected to the state Senate three times, 1944, 1948 and 1952. At present he is president pro tem of the Missouri Senate. During the 65th General Assembly he served as the majority floor leader.

Democrat Carriers Visit Capital City

Five Sedalia Democrat street sellers left this afternoon for a visit to Jefferson City and the state Capitol as winners of a recent selling contest.

The winners are Jimmy Fisher, Avery Spellmeyer, Dickie Self, Wayne Dorweiler and Tommy Dorweiler.

They will be accompanied by Charles Barnes and Joe Forsee from the Democrat circulation department.

The group will visit the Capitol, downtown Jefferson City, and tour that city before having dinner and returning to Sedalia in the evening.

Boy Scout Swim Meet Scheduled For Monday

Captain K. K. Johnson, camping and activities chairman for the Lake of Ozarks Council, Boy Scouts of America, which includes Sedalia, announced today that the annual Boy Scout swim meet will be held in Jefferson City on Monday night July 16. Capt. Johnson announced that the events to be followed this year will be same as last year. Last year Troop One was sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Jefferson City and was the winner.

The actual meet itself will be under the leadership of Russell Sexton, camping and activities chairman for the Cole District. Sexton has ten men who will assist him in running this swim meet. According to Johnson, about 15 or 20 troops from throughout the Council will compete.

The swim meet for Explorer Scouts was held at Camp Pa He Tsi early in June and only Boy Scouts will be eligible at this meet. The meet will be held in Memorial Pool starting at 7 o'clock. Officials expect the meet will last approximately two hours.

Patrol Gives Six-Month Highway Toll

For those willing to face unpleasant facts and perhaps benefit from them, here are the results of this year's first six month's driving activity on Missouri rural highways. The source of information is the Missouri Highway Patrol general headquarters at Jefferson City.

Four hundred twenty-three people are dead, and 5,445 injured as a result of 8,314 accidents. When these figures are reduced to a daily basis, they show that on Missouri rural highways two people die, and 30 are injured every day that goes by.

The bloodiest day during these first six months was Saturday, Feb. 11. On that day, 13 persons lost their lives on Missouri rural highways. March led the list on a monthly basis with 95 killed.

Week end driving continues to be lethal business with 41 per cent of all Missouri highway deaths occurring on Saturdays and Sundays.

So far as type of accident is concerned, the collision of two or more vehicles leads the list with 183 persons killed. One car, ran off roadway accidents, ran a close second with 164 deaths resulting therefrom. Pedestrian deaths totalled 40; collision with railroad trains took 14 lives; and collisions with fixed object such as bridge abutments, took 15. The balance of the death toll resulted from colliding with animals, falling from vehicles, and overturning in the roadway.

Finds Armed Services Education Substandard

NEW YORK—The New York Times said today a study of the Armed Services Information and Education program has found it educationally substandard.

The newspaper said a report on a two-year study by the Fund for the Advancement of Education has been sent to Asst. Secretary of Defense Carter L. Burgess. The study was ordered by the department.

The fund, a division of the Ford Foundation, found that the 40-million-dollar-a-year program is not effective and does not give servicemen a clear philosophy of why they are in uniform.

Patrolman With Badge 13 Has No Incidents

ST. LOUIS—Jack Darevsky, patrolman on the suburban Jennings police force made it through the day without incident Friday.

He has badge No. 13, is the 13th man in the department and Friday the 13th was riding in car No. 13.

Frank Nagy, the ticket agent, and Mrs. Albert Malson of Bethalto, Ill., who had gone to the station to meet a friend. They later worked themselves free and called police.

The regular meeting of Pettis County Post No. 16 will be held on Monday evening, 8 o'clock, at American Legion Hall, at 114 1/2 East Fifth Street.

Tipton Holds Tenth Fair Next Week

Tipton's Tenth Annual Fair will be held next week, July 18 through 21.

With good rains the past several weeks, all crops are fine and the art hall will no doubt be filled with exhibits.

Awards will be given in the cattle, hog and sheep departments with the junior divisions coming in for their share. The cattle show will be Wednesday night, July 18. Tipton is now included in the Little Dixie circuit horse shows and promises to be one of the best ever held. It will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

The kiddie's pet parade will precede the Friday night horse show. Music will be presented by the Tipton High School Band, John Gregory directing, and by Mrs. George Langkop, Buncheon, on the electric organ.

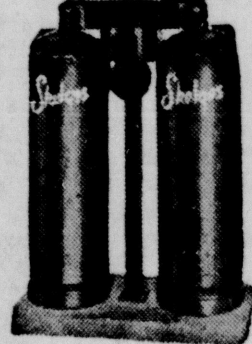

The Floyd O. Kile Shows will again be on the midway. The catalogs are being distributed and may be secured at any Tipton business house. This year's books have been revised considerably.

Albert H. Wolf is president of the fair; W. R. Hudson, vice-president; Roscoe R. Gibson, secretary, and Paul Orscheln, treasurer. These officials also serve as directors along with Toby Lademann, Fred W. Schmidt, Archie Morlock, Frank Miller and Wilbur Knapp.

A principal industry of French Somaliland, largely a desert country, is salt works. Waters from the Gulf of Aden are flooded over arid desert sands and allowed to dry to leave a harvest of salt.

Illusion of depth is created by use of modern, scenic wallpaper. Shown above is a lightly sketched tree theme executed on parchment paper which gives spaciousness to a corner vista.

Can Recover More Space In Homes—

Wallpaper Industry Gives Designers Freer Rein; Scenic Papers Are Back

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Emerging from the cocoon of stereotyped designs, new wallpapers are intended to recover more space in our homes.

For several years, wallpaper manufacturers watched glumly as paint rolled over acres of flat-painted walls. To win back some of the lost acreage, the industry has given designers freer rein, revamped patterns, updated color combinations, instituted technical improvements and chopped costs of expensive-looking effects.

One noteworthy example is the growing popularity of scenic wallpapers, once considered too costly and too elegant for the average home. Simpler, more open designs worked in perspective against light backgrounds give picture papers the ability to make small rooms look larger.

Smaller - scaled scenes are specifically designed for the lower ceilings and limited wall space in new homes.

For the first time in wallpaper history, scenic papers can be successfully machine printed, which puts the price within reach of many of us.

To attract the amateur paper-hanger, scenic panels are available fully trimmed, pasted and ready to put up. One example is a lovely garden scene in three panels.

A lightly sketched flowering tree on the first panel stands by a tree-trunked house on the second panel. This is followed by a tree leafed out in springtime green.

So that these scenes can be tailored to individual needs, papers are sold by the set, by the panel or by the section. The built-in views cover a multitude of subjects and include historical scenes as well as stylized, contemporary designs.

For example, there's a restful early American scene with elm trees, comfortable looking homes in the distance and a tiny harbor with sailing ships. It makes a natural partner for early American furnishings.

More contemporary in style and manner is a carefully drawn landscape of stylized trees suggesting those you see on the Monterey peninsula.

If the far east influence in home furnishings has captured your attention, there are scenes to match. One is a bit of Nanking. It has a light chartreuse background and cocoa colored trees with Chinese red blossoms. They are ranged against small, rolling hills in shades of deeper green, chartreuse and light cocoa.

Another lovely picture is that of a charming Italian villa in shades of dove gray, light green and sky blue with splashes of mauve and coral.

Colors are apt to be soft, with occasional touches of a bright, vivid shade. I also noted extensive use of black and white and neutrals such as parchment, pale gray, and pinkish beige in backgrounds.

Fussy, Party Dresses Are Not Suitable for Traveling

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

What to wear while traveling depends on how one is traveling and how long one is going to be en route. But many women who travel demonstrate that they are misunderstanding the basic idea of traveling clothes.

In some sections of the country, it is quite usual to dress elegantly when on a train or plane. A good hat, a well-fitted suit and a new handbag are customary in these sections.

In other sections of the country, one travels in slacks or blue jeans and gets dressed up at the destination.

But in neither of these cases should one dress, either on the train or just before arrival, in party clothes.

Party clothes are not for traveling. Not only are they highly unsuitable-looking, but they are uncomfortable and get in the way of the other passengers.

Typical examples of this awkwardness were demonstrated on a recent trip. Several young women wore their newest party dresses and what must have been a total of 20 petticoats. Every time they walked down the train aisle, their dresses brushed the passengers and twice they woke persons who were sleeping.

One little girl had been dressed by her mother in her best taffeta party dress. Not too surprisingly, the dress was spotted with water at the water fountain and the whole car had to witness the child's spanking. Had she worn a dressed-up cotton, the mother wouldn't have worried.

A floppy party hat makes the going hard in a crowded vestibule. Spike heels are perilous when a train's in motion.

Whatever one wears for travel, it shouldn't be party clothes.

The Houstonia Civic Council met June 19 at the High School with 12 members present. The Committee reported on the progress of fixing the ball diamond and plans were made to have a donkey ball game and ice cream supper with the proceeds to go to fixing the bleachers and back stop at the diamond.

'Do-It-Yourself' Man Has Plenty Of Help Nowadays

Simple Steps and Shortcut Aids
Permit Home Owner to Keep His Place Up-to-Date Economically

As the wheels of American progress keep turning on and on, new tools, materials and short-cut methods are being offered to the home owner to help keep his home up-to-date efficiently and economically.

In keeping with the ever-growing "do-it-yourself" trend, major suppliers in the housing and building materials fields are lending their know-how to aid the handyman and woman.

For example, lumber supply houses, working together with national lumber and plywood associations, are now furnishing the do-it-yourself'er with architectural service, financing counsel, all needed materials, and step-by-step instructions for the job to be done—all in one package.

Leading plumbing suppliers are introducing simplified fixtures for remodeling and add-on jobs that require a minimum of tools or specialized skills.

Extra Room Added With $400 Budget

Would you like to add an attractive extra room to your present living space without spending a barrel of money? Then you'll be wise to check carefully into all the various Add-A-Room possibilities that are open to you.

Whether you're interested in adding a new bedroom, rumpus room, combination den-guest room, or something else, chances are you can find some space that's already under roof which you can use for the project.

These under-roof areas, at any rate, are the first you should consider, since it's generally much more economical to utilize such an area than build an entire new addition.

The cost of a particular Add-A-Room project depends of course on many factors such as the exact size of the new room, the building materials used, the nature of any plumbing and heating installations, etc., which may be necessary.

It is often possible to create an additional room in a basement or attic on a $400 budget, or to convert a garage or enclosure a porch or breezeway for about $800 to $1,000.

If one considers the value of an added room, and what it can mean in increased comfort, convenience and pleasure, these figures are reasonable indeed.

It should be noted, moreover, that labor costs average up to 60 per cent of the cost of the complete job. So if you're at all handy with tools, there's no reason why you can't substantially reduce the cost of your project by doing all or part of the work yourself.

To secure expert advice and guidance, consult with your lumber or building materials dealer. Your contractor can build the entire room or just the shell of the addition, installing wiring and heating, and let you finish the job yourself.

Available today are many varieties of gypsum wallboard, prefabricated floor sections, packaged windows and doors which you can apply or install, yourself.

Almost always, a well-designed room adds far more to the value of a home than it costs. Home-improvement loans for this purpose are easy to obtain from your bank or other lending institution.

Amateur Beekeeper

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An estimated 8,000 to 10,000 bees swarmed atop a downtown traffic light and sent pedestrians scurrying.

Charles McGhee, a lens grinder for an optical company, cleared up the jam when he got a box and ladder from a nearby store and after about half an hour coaxed the queen and her followers into the makeshift hive.

McGhee, an amateur beekeeper, later transferred the swarm to a hive at his home.

Poetry for Golf

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Not wishing to arouse the ire of golfers nor dictate fashion to them, Dayton City Welfare Director Alfred P. Strozdas turned to poetry instead.

Now, at the first tees of three city-owned courses, signs read:

"We don't mean to preach,

"This isn't the beach.

"Will you kindly wear golfing attire?"

"Shorts to your knees and full tips please.

"It's the costume we most admire."

Only One of Kind

The U.S. Army dog training center at Fort Carson, Colo., is the only military training installation of its type in the United States.

Home and Building

Where to keep supplies for cooking, cleaning or other needs is no problem if there's a wall available. Here on a wall of 1/4-inch "Peg-Board," a diversity of items for everyday use are out-of-the-way, yet easily and attractively accessible.

professional, any time and all the time.

It is advisable, too, to check the various building codes in the community before tackling elaborate home fix-up jobs. Many of the restrictions imposed are for the safety of the house and the homeowner.

'Peg Board' Offers Space Often Needed in Living

Whether residing in a house or an apartment, few families ever seem to have enough storage space. Nowadays extra storage facilities become available at moderate cost and for ease of installation.

For the apartment or home, and for use in just about any room in the house is "Peg-Board" paneling. This is a hardboard panel, perforated with hundreds of holes that is easily adapted to all "hang-up" and shelving needs.

These panels can be painted to match any color scheme in the home. A priming coat is required and then followed with one or two coats of the desired color finish.

Large panels in new construction may be nailed directly to the wall studs. Over existing walls, spacers are required.

These may be in the form of a light lumber framework or in vertical strips spaced at 16-inch intervals between rows of holes.

The spacers provide room for insertion and removal of the metal fixtures.

For most inside locations, the 1/4-inch thick panels are practical. For heavy duty use, as in the garage, those of 1/2-inch thickness are recommended.

Japan has seven people per arable acre of land.

Attends Girl State

Miss Connie Boesch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boesch, of Cole Camp, attended Girl State at William Woods College and was elected to several posts while there. She was sponsored by American Legion Unit No. 305, Cole Camp.

First Coin

First legally authorized coin minted in the United States was the large copper cent of 1787 called the "fugio," or "Franklin cent." It bore the motto, reputed to have been suggested by Benjamin Franklin, "Mind Your Own Business."

Chimneys Later

First capitol in Williamsburg, Virginia, completed in 1704, was designed without any chimneys and the use of fire candles, or tobacco was strictly prohibited. Members of the Virginia Assembly suffered much from colds, so chimneys were added in 1724.

New Decor Helps Old Residence

Surveys Say 60 Per Cent of Owners Do 'Weekend' Painting

The next best thing to building a new home is decorating an old one. New paint can make old rooms look bigger, cheer up dark corners, lend fresh life to furniture, draperies and rugs.

Surveys indicate that more than 60 per cent of all American families have become "week-end decorators," doing all or part of their home painting themselves.

The clue to the lift you get from a room you've painted comes from the colors you selected. The right colors can bring restfulness to bedrooms, sparkling freshness to kitchens and new beauty to dreary rooms.

As a general rule-of-thumb, plan your color combinations around some related group of colors. If yellow makes you feel cheerful, use it for your main room treatment, and add variety and interest with yellow-orange and yellow-green, either as contrasting colors on one wall or in your draperies or on wood trim.

Most paint manufacturers have color booklets available that will give you basic color schemes in sufficient variety to suit your own taste. With these modern paint color systems, you can get any one of hundreds of tints and deep colors from your paint dealer.

It's fun to be a "week-end decorator" and easy, too, because modern paints have painting skill "built in."

If you follow a few basic steps, the job of wall painting can be done correctly and in a surprisingly short time.

First cover the floors with newspapers or drop cloth. Then remove all electrical switches and outlet plates. Start with the trim around the doors and windows. For protection, speed and efficiency, use either masking tape or a trim guard.

Whether you use a roller or a brush (4 or 5-inch) spread your paint on evenly, with sweeping-to-and-fro strokes. Start each stroke where the paint is dry and work toward and into wet areas.

Start at an upper corner of the wall and paint an easy arm's length across, parallel to the ceiling. Then work down from ceiling to baseboard. Continue the same method across the wall, working in strips a yard wide so that you can come back and paint into an area you've just painted.

For baseboards, begin in a corner of the room. First apply paint to the center of the board, then work toward the edges.

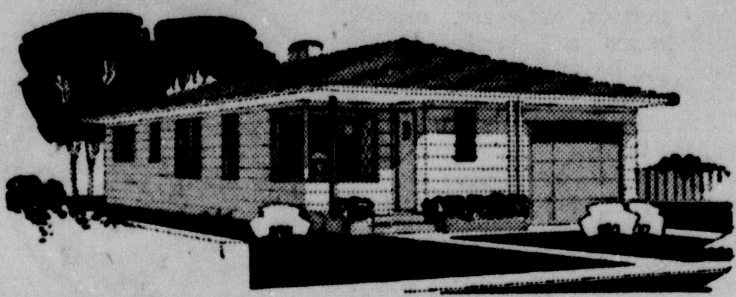

When you paint the ceiling, paint in stripes—the width, not the long way of the room. This allows you to join the next strip with the last one before the paint has started to set. Keep the stripes narrow. Paint toward the light wherever possible.

Where's The Fire?
BIG LAKE, Minn. (AP) — The volunteer fire crew never dreamed there were so many things in Big Lake that could burn.

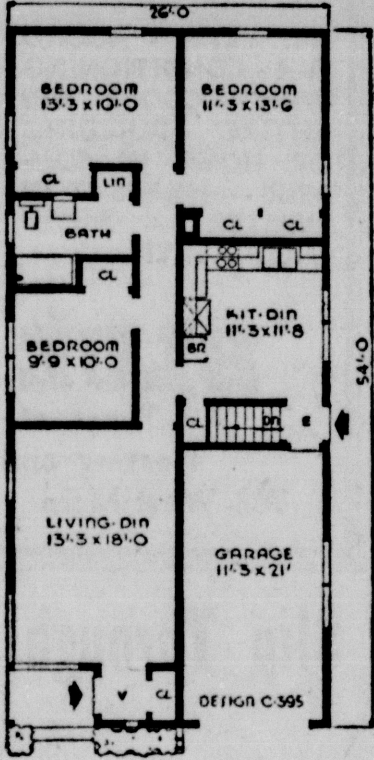

They got their first alarm at 2 p. m. and kept spraying water steadily until midnight.

Their assignments included a grass fire, a burning cottage, another grass fire, one at a brooder house and barn, a flaming car and a third grass fire. Then the car broke out in flames again and had to be doused for good.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-395

DESIGN C-395. A narrow lot specially presents problems of planning, especially if an attached garage with a front drive-in is required.

In this case the garage is incorporated under the main roof and results in a narrow rectangular plan. Designs call for frame construction, hip roof, wide siding, picture window, covered front entrance and brick planter.

There is a full basement, except under the garage, and the first floor consists of vestibule, living room, three bedrooms, bath, and a large, well-arranged combination kitchen-dinette.

Storage space is provided for in large wardrobe closets, linen closet, broom closet and two coat closets.

Floor area is 1131 sq. ft. and cubage is 21,489 cu. ft., not including garage.

No Workshop Needed—

Small Chores Can Be Done With Well Selected Tools

Even if you do not have a workshop, or do much putting about your home on do-it-yourself jobs, there are certain small chores about the house you can do quickly and efficiently with a minimum of tools.

Here are the basics for every home:

A claw hammer is the backbone of any tool kit; a tack hammer, a worthy mate. Choose a cross-cut saw for cutting across the grain of wood, a rip-saw for with-the-grain cuts; a coping saw is a versatile tool for minor, fine work.

A good tool kit should contain screwdrivers of various sizes. A ratchet screwdriver with interchangeable blades is an excellent timesaver and good investment.

Choose a firm chisel for both light and heavy work; it can be used for making vertical cuts, splitting wood and other chores.

A brace and bit comes in handy for all woodboring jobs; bits come in a wide variety of sizes. Equally useful is a hand-drill for making holes in either wood or metal, depending upon the drill point used.

A jack plane is a handy tool for smoothing sticky doors and other minor jobs.

Other handy small tools for use about the house are a wood and metal file; a folding rule, straight edge and steel measuring tape; all make themselves mighty useful. A pair of adjustable pliers, a Stillson and monkey wrench—these too, should be in every home tool kit.

Paint scrapers, putty knives, nail sets and drawknives are handy additions.

Keep a supply of sandpaper in both fine and coarse abrasives; steel wool is handy where scratching is to be avoided; pumice stone is fine for polishing jobs.

Don't forget the plumber's friends—the long-handled, rubber-cupped plunger for clearing stoppered drains, and a steel springed auger or "snake" for clogged-up pipes. These will help you handle the most common plumbing troubles.

You wouldn't call a surgeon to remove a splinter from your finger, so why call a specialist to take care of some of the chores in a wide variety of sizes. Equally, the best way to tackle the little repair jobs as they occur is to be prepared with the right tools to do the job.

The tulip originated in the Middle Eastern desert as a wild flower.

New Plane Data

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An aircraft plant report says planes today are vastly different from those in World War II. A World War II fighter required about 7,000 parts. A modern jet needs 25,000. A tolerance of 1-32 of an inch could pass for some parts in a second world war craft, where the modern fighter has to have 1-500 of an inch. And just a scuff on a wing is enough to cause a reduction of 20 miles an hour in speed — a loss that can be fatal to a pilot when he's dog fighting for his life.

New Career

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Alice C. Harness, a grandmother and recent college graduate, is about to start a new career in social work. She's 53 and prides herself on being the first member of her family to earn a degree. Mrs. Harness has two daughters, a son and seven grandchildren. Another son was killed in World War II.

New, Improved Wall Tiles Make It Easy for Beginner

Tiling a kitchen, bathroom or utility room, is the kind of job even a person who "is all thumbs" can do well.

New, improved wall tiles in a wide range of materials and colors, now make it easier for a beginner to make a satisfactory installation.

But whether beginner or expert, the do-it-yourself tile job should be done with the best possible wall tiles.

Most dealers furnish complete kits for the job—along with step-by-step instructions for every minute detail. Be sure to follow these instructions carefully.

Check your kit and be sure you have all the tools for the complete job. Don't look for bargain mastic cement—a gallon of mastic should cover 35 to 40 feet; be a permanent and trouble-free bond for the tile.

Select your kit containing molded tile pieces—for corners, hard-to-get-at-places—and for trim.

Tools you will need are a coping saw for circular cuts around pipes, etc.; a notched trowel, a scraper, a chalk line and level and rule.

Prepare the walls by removing everything that is loose, such as flaky paint or loose or rotten plaster. Thoroughly wash off grease and oils. Patch all holes with patching plaster or plaster board. Make walls as smooth as possible.

1. Draw a level line around the room at the desired height.

2. Spread the mastic downward in a wavy motion, using a notched trowel. Spread enough mastic for three hours work; do not let it harden.

3. First set the half-tile cap along the level line; where there is an outcorner start setting there. Do not overlap tile edges or leave too much room between tiles.

4. Where tiles meet in corners, cut tiles carefully for a close butt; fill openings with mastic.

5. For making circular cuts around pipes, bathtubs, etc., use a coping saw.

Excess mastic should be cleaned off every few square feet as the job progresses. In about ten days after the job is completed, the tile should be washed with a mild soap or detergent, and water. Never use an abrasive.

These are but the highlights of what's to be done in laying tile. If you have the time and the energy, you will also have the satisfaction of doing-it-yourself.

However, if you do not feel that you are up to it, then your wall tile dealer can give you a truly smart, professional installation at a moderate cost.

Pray for Rain

ORLO VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Myra Bean, who has a 12-acre watermelon patch here, believes in praying for rain when her crop needs water.

She said a shower watered her patch while not a drop fell on a 1,000-acre melon field surrounding her property but owned by another grower.

"It pays to pray," says Mrs. Bean.

New Electrical System Helps All Appliances

If your house wiring is like that of four out of five of your neighbors in pre-1940 houses, it's wearing high-buttoned shoes today.

An electrical system can be outdated in a lot less than a lifetime of use, according to the National Adequate Wiring Bureau, an electrical industry educational organization.

Sad experience has already convinced many a home owner that his residence is not adequately wired for the number of appliances he has bought.

Blown fuses, fuzzy television pictures, half-done toast, lights that dim suddenly and inability to operate an air conditioner are beginning to persuade Americans to rewire the homes they live in.

Wiring capacity and design that would "do" a decade ago are now unable to provide sufficient wattage for the multiplicity of electrical devices and equipment owned by the average American family.

The electrical capacity built into the pre-1940 house depended on the amount of current that could flow through two 120 volt wires, known as "conductors" which enter the house from the utility company's service drop. These feed through the fuse cabinet or circuit breaker equipment, and on through a series of branch circuits to lights and appliances.

But when wires are small, small current flows. The voltage which provided enough "push" for the current, when the average home had only lighting and a few small portable appliances, does not provide enough "push" for the versatile, wholly-automatic kitchen and laundry equipment of today.

Some improvement in the householder's electrical lot came in 1946 with the adoption by the electrical industry of a "standard" requiring a larger service entrance to give the home electrical plant twice the capacity it had before.

A service entrance with three wires leading in, instead of the former two-wire system, was required before a house could be called adequately wired. What the householder could take from such a system as 14,500 watts to power his equipment.

That electrical capacity did not remain adequate for long. As the range and water heater use about 12,000 watts between them, the home owner who expected to have a clothes dryer, an ironer, a roaster, a broiler, room air conditioning and dozens of other refinements of electrical living, was stymied.

The National Adequate Wiring Bureau holds that the answer is in engineered wiring planned for equipment which the householder expects to own within a few years. He actually needs about 25,000 watts available if he is to have a modern house that is good electrically for years to come.

Insulation Pays Own Way In Fuel Saving

Insulation plays the dual role of making the home cooler in summer (by keeping the heat out) and warmer in winter (by keeping the heat in).

Actually, insulation is a self-liquidating home improvement as it can pay for itself in fuel savings in a relatively short time. Fuel consumption may be reduced from 20 per cent to 40 per cent depending on the type and amount of insulation used.

Usually a home owner can do his own attic insulation, either by stapling blanket insulation between the roof rafters or by spreading bulk insulating material between the attic floor joists.

House walls cannot properly be insulated from the outside by amateurs. The job calls for a thorough knowledge of house construction as well as professional skill and equipment.

Insulating materials are made of mineral wool, rock, glass or slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foils, vermiculite, cotton, and other vegetable and mineral matter.

There are four basic forms of insulation material, as follows:

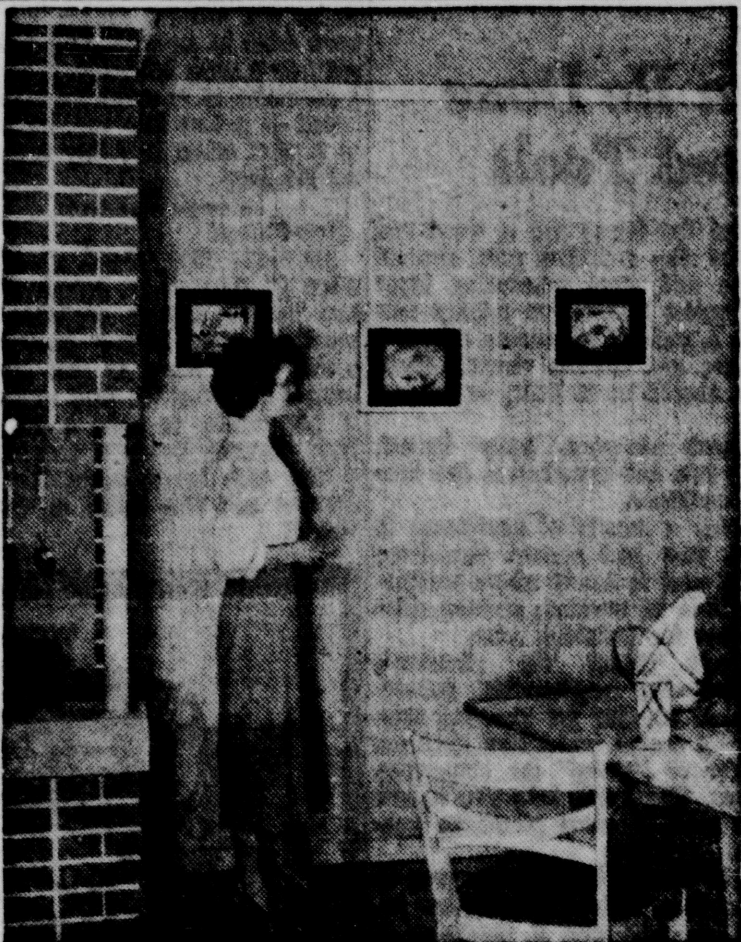

Flexible insulation takes the form of "blankets" enclosed in heavy paper covering. It comes in long rolls, "batts" and pre-cut sections, all of such size as to fit in hollow spaces between studs, rafters and joists in walls or under the roof.

Fill-type insulation comes in bales or bags. It is loose material which can be poured into place. It can be either dumped between floor joists in the attic, put into small spaces by hand or blown into walls or ceilings.

Insulating boards, rigid or semi-rigid, may be used as a base for plaster or can become the decorative finish themselves. They are especially popular for finishing off an attic or basement.

Reflective materials, such as aluminum foils bonded to tough building paper, insulate by turning back heat in much the same manner as a mirror reflects light.

Home and Building

Plastic-finished planks are easy for the home handyman to install. Tongue and groove edges and special metal clips assure neat invisible joints. The finished surface needs no painting or other covering. There are 10 colors and four wood-grain patterns from which to choose.

Linoleum and Tile Scraps Can Be Used to Decorate

Don't throw away or burn up those odd-sized scraps of linoleum, rubber or cork floor tiles. Put them to good use about the house!

Floor Finishes Make Amateur Job Possible

Floor finishing heretofore largely in the province of the professional, is fast becoming one of the most popular do-it-yourself projects.

Unless the floors are warped or buckled or the old finish is extremely dark and thick, the home-owner can refinish his own floors successfully with the new floor finishes, such as Fabulon, made by Pierce & Stevens, Buffalo, N. Y.

The first step is the proper preparation of the wood surface. All previous finishes must be completely removed and the surface must be bare, clean, smooth, dust-free and dry.

Power sanding is by far the most widely used method of preparing wood floors. Many dealers are prepared to rent a sander in good operating condition, along with an ample supply of sandpaper and instructions for use.

Old floors require three sandings with sandpapers of progressive degrees of fineness. After sanding, it is important to remove all dust from floor with a vacuum cleaner, dry cloth, or dry mop.

When the floor surface has been prepared, 90 per cent of the operation has been completed. The modern surface coating flows over the pre-sanded surface and requires no wood filler.

Within one hour after applying, the first coat is dry. The floor should then be hand sanded before the second and final coat is applied.

If a brilliant high gloss is desired, a third coat can be applied, after allowing the second to dry at least four hours, preferably overnight.

New Paint Removers Are Fast Working And Easy to Use

For many week-end decorating projects, the old paint should be removed first.

Today's paint removers are fast-working, non-inflammable and easy to use.

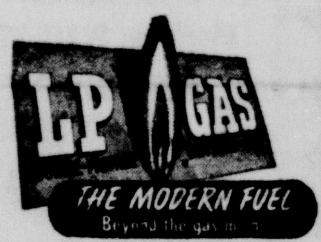

Just lay on a heavy even coat of the remover, brushing in one direction only. DO NOT brush back and forth like paint.

When the paint is broken from the surface, remove with regular paint scraper or putty knife (for flat surfaces) or steel wool or rags (for rounded or carved surfaces.)

Any small spots that remain can be touched again with steel wool dipped in remover.

After old finish is removed, wipe surface clean and dry. It is then ready for application of new finish.

Need for Space Is Universal Home Problem

The need for more space in the kitchen is a universal problem with home-makers. However, extra needed inches and increased efficiency can be achieved by simple decorating and fix-up tricks.

Check your existing kitchen plan. Then, try to arrange your working center so that you achieve a U-shape; turning cabinets and table tops into the room. This shape is the ideal arrangement for small space kitchens, for it provides added wall space that may be utilized for closets and extra shelving.

Table tops that swing in or out from a cabinet give more area to limited space rooms.

In older homes, too, a common space waster is the old-fashioned sink installation. Perhaps you will make an investment for convenience and beauty, by installing of a new cabinet sink. Storage space is provided with the cabinet, full working width is assured in a minimum of space; in most cases new plumbing supplies are not needed to effect the installation.

Doors that open into the kitchen also cause a loss of valuable space. Sliding doors may be installed, but often the kitchen may be unified with its neighboring room by the simple application of a harmonious color. Democrat Class Ads Get Results! Phone 1000.

Charles Farrell Leads Active Retirement

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — For a guy who was supposed to be retired from the acting business, Charles Farrell certainly leads an active career.

Several months ago, the former movie star finished up the massive chore of making 128 half-hour TV films in the My Little Margie series with Gale Storm. Now he's embarking on another series called, oddly enough, The Charles Farrell Show.

You can see it as the I Love Lucy replacement on CBS this summer Mondays. You'll find Charlie playing Charlie Farrell, owner and host of the exclusive Racquet Club in Palm Springs. The situations may be exaggerated, but the actual life among the desert vacationers, but he has television for you.

"We're just doing 12 shows for summer replacement," the actor commented.

"If the show gets a good enough rating, it might go on regularly, providing they can find a time slot for it. Everyone seems to be happy with the films we have done so far, and it could happen."

The films are being made at Hal Roach Studios, where Charlie put in his long service with "Margie." But the company also spent a few days in Palm Springs to get some outdoor shots of the Racquet Club. The actual locale was no problem, but the real guests at the club were.

"We had hoped to get some of them into the films, but ran into problems," Charlie remarked. "Groucho Marx was all set, then he said, 'I have a sneaking suspicion this show is on CBS.' He is under contract to NBC."

Moving Old Cotton Gives Business Help

By SAM DAWSON

DALLAS (AP) — Traders on the Dallas and other cotton exchanges are enjoying lively—and they hope profitable — business these days moving part of Uncle Sam's hoard of old cotton out of government warehouses.

But exchange officials say that much of the old cotton being brought for export at around 30 per cent under U.S. domestic prices may find its way to mills in the eastern coast states.

Many of the bales that will move overseas after August 1 — to be sold at the world price — are likely to be of this year's crop in Texas, now starting to gins.

The complicated deals have brought the Dallas Cotton Exchange out of the doldrums. Last year it was becalmed with a total sale of 776,114 bales, compared with 1,425,269 in 1954.

Karl G. Hunt, executive vice president of the exchange, explains the business of making money by buying cheap old cotton for use here and sending expensive new cotton overseas this way:

Much of the cotton sold by the government at the low prices is in warehouses near the eastern cotton mills. Texans who buy it can resell to the nearby mills without much transportation cost. Most Texas cotton used to go overseas from Texas ports.

That is what's likely to happen this year, Hunt says.

Hunt says the traders can use their profits and freight costs savings on the old cotton sold to eastern mills and buy the new cotton for shipment from Texas ports after August 1 at comparatively little freight cost, thereby fulfilling their commitment to the government to send aboard the same number of bales that they bought from then Commodity Credit Corp. at the low price.

Hunt believes the Texas dealers will pick up some profit this way and Uncle Sam may move as much as three to four million bales abroad. The dealers run a risk, however, of fluctuating prices in touchy world markets.

The Department of Agriculture's side of the story is this:

1. It wants to move some of the 6½ million bales to which the CCC has actual title. This agency also held 6½ million additional bales under loan commitments at the end of April. Altogether CCC has more than two billion dollars tied up in cotton.

2. It wants to recapture part of the world market which the United States lost in recent years because of the high price of government-supported cotton. In 1951 the United States exported more than five million bales. In the cotton year just ending only about two million were sold abroad.

So now the CCC is selling some of its cotton for export at reduced prices and taking its loss.
